SLOW, BUT STEADY. Workers for Reese Construction Co. lay a new asphalt surface in the 1600 block of Madison Avenue late Tuesday. The road work, from 20th Street in Granite City to Second Street in Madison, has slowed traffic somewhat along the street.

but progressed southward into Madison this morning and should be finished in a few more working days. Resurfacing of Madison Avenue from 20th Street to Nameoki Road is scheduled for next spring.

Pupils to attend two fewer days

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Students will attend for only 174 days in the 1983-84 school year, the Granite City Board of Education decided Tuesday night.

With six "snow days" offset by an eight-day delay in the start of the term, pupils will attend for two days less than scheduled, 174 instead of 176. The delay stemmed from most teachers' decision not to report until a general agreement had been reached with Local 743.

The calendar will end June 1, as originally planned. For any days on which snow and ice prevent classes from being conducted, an "act of God" is to be declared, further reducing the number of days attended by pupils.

To attain a 180-day total required by the state, the district is counting 174 days for students, two parent-conference days and four institute days.

Newly added to teachers' duties Tuesday night was the requirement that they attend institutes or workshops on Friday, Dec. 23, and Monday, Feb. 13; pupils will not report those two days.

The requirement, making up for absences on Aug. 31 and Sept. 1, will shorten teachers' Christmas-New Year holiday from 11 to 10 days and will eliminate their day off for Lincoln's birthday.

Other institute days in the revised calendar are Aug. 22, when only a few faculty members attended, and March 23, date of the annual Madison County Teachers' Institute.

Parent-teacher conferences will take place Nov. 3 and March 22. Emergency days have been designated for Aug. 23, 24, 25, 26, 29 and

30. The fall semester will end Jan. 13 and the spring term will start Jan. 18. Although the term started Sept. 2 with little advance notice to pupils, all will be counted as present that day, avoiding jeopardizing the attendance records of those who were unable to report.

Classes were held for only a half-day on Friday as students familiarized themselves with their schedules and buildings.

Supt. B.J. Davis told the board that 9,073 boys and girls were present Tuesday, the first full day of classes.

A breakdown of the 4,521 secondary enrollment shows 2,976 at Granite City High School, 864 at Coolidge Junior High School and 681 at Grigsby.

The 4,552 elementary turnout consists of 725 at Prather, 593 at Mitchell, 568 at Wilson, 515 at Frohardt, 456 at Maryville, 484 at Parkway, 442 at Niedringhaus, 370 at Marshall and 369 at Webster.

There are 621 in kindergarten, 699 in the first grade, 601 second grade, 605 third, 652 fourth, 627 fifth, 634 sixth grade, 103 in elementary special education, 762 in the seventh grade, 772 eighth, 763 ninth, 790 tenth, 729 eleventh, 648 twelfth and 39 in secondary special education.

Attendance will be reported to the state next week after the sixth day of classes.

The board will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 13, to evaluate sixth-day statistics and decide on rehiring some of the 129 teachers currently on honorable dismissal.

In the meantime, substitute teachers will be hired in order to reduce classes larger than the desired size.

Little competition for depot property

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Editor

There appears to be little interest among Quad-City area taxing bodies in bidding on 44.05 acres of the Granite City Army Installation which has been declared surplus by the U.S. Government. The general services Administration (GSA) will accept bids on the property, which is to be sold to the highest bidder next Wednesday.

The only public body interested in buying the property is the Tri-City Regional Port and, "Right now, it's a toss up," says Carl Ranft, general manager of the port district.

The U.S. General Services Administration describes the land as "Tract Number One." Ranft said it is all of the installation east of Route 3 which was divided from the basic installation when the Route 3 (Chicago Avenue) overpass was constructed.

Other property drew intense competition among Quad-City governmental units when it was declared surplus some time ago.

In the late 1970s, Granite City, Madison, Venice and the port district, all of which are adjacent to the Army installation, sought to buy other land declared surplus by the government. Before any deal could be finalized, the government decided not to sell the land. This is not the case this time.

Subsequently, the port acquired some smaller portions.

The greater public good was among the criteria for deciding who would get the property at that time. This time, it is indicated in a bulletin from GSA, the property will go to the highest bidder.

Sealed bids will be accepted until 3

Venice OKs plans for riverfront

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

Final plans for proposed improvements at the Venice boat launching facility on the Mississippi River were approved by the Venice City Council at its meeting Tuesday night and will be submitted to the Illinois Department of Conservation.

Work on the project, for which preliminary plans were given approval last January, has been delayed due to the high river stages earlier this year, Mayor Tyrone Echols explained.

Cost of the riverfront project was estimated at $56,400 in the preliminary report, including a total of $48,440 for construction. The plans were prepared by the engineering firm of Juneau Associates, Inc.

A $60,000 grant for the Venice project was given official sanction by the Department of Conservation last October.

Clearing about 700 linear feet of scrub growth along the river side of the parking area and boat launching ramp, which currently obstructs the view of the river, is in the design plans.

Renovation of the existing boat launching ramp by removing and replacing broken concrete curbs, pavement and concrete pilings, which have been destroyed, and replacing 400 tons of stone rip-rap along the upstream side of the ramp are included in the plans.

In the adjacent parking area, 300 tons of crushed stone will be added, guard posts will be replaced and the entire area, about 6,000 feet, will be resurfaced.

Renovation of the parking site alone will cost an estimated $16,840. Two permanent signs will be erected to indicate the location of the boat launching facility, the proposal states.

The city was formally notified that the Illinois State Clearinghouse has processed and cleared the Venice street and sidewalk improvements project for which the city has applied for funds totaling $176,950 from the Economic Development Administration, Mayor Echols reported.

Progress also was noted in connection with the proposed Senior Community Center in Venice.

Zoning is granted for bingo

Residents fearing bingo halls might be opened near their residential properties were the apparent holdup in separate zoning requests by the Granite City Knights of Columbus and St. Gregory the Illuminator Apostolic Church.

However, after Mayor Paul Schuler stated that no more than one bingo game per week could be conducted at either Colonial Drive site, both were granted C-3 (community service district) zoning.

Schuler based his statement on the premise the city's community service zone was not intended to be a commercial enterprise area. He said a motion stipulating such a restriction was not necessary.

Some neighbors were concerned a planned St. Gregory fellowship hall and Knights of Columbus multi-purpose building would be rented out to other organizations for the purpose of conducting nightly bingo games.

State law limits non-profit organizations from conducting more than one bingo game a week for their own organization.

Following the mayor's statements, aldermen belatedly approved the Knights of Columbus request, filed in June, and the St. Gregory August zoning request. Both passed the council on a 10-2 margin. Aldermen Sam Whitmer and Paul Flisk opposed the request. Alderman Carl Kittel voted "present." Alderman Phillip Miller was absent. Colonial Drive resident Joan Mase repeated an earlier appearance before the council to reaffirm her opposition to nightly bingo. She listed congested parking, heavy traffic and possible reductions in property values as her main objections.

At the Aug. 23 council meeting, Mrs. Mase had presented a petition bearing the signatures of about 120 persons opposed to rezoning the St. Gregory property from R-1 (single-family residential) to C-3 (community service).

In the past, a similar petition had been prepared against the Knights of Columbus request, she stated. Mrs. Mase said she has no objection to either organization using the land for their group's own activities. "The only thing I'm afraid of is nightly bingo."

Venice to crack down on licenses

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

Recurring problems of unlicensed dogs, many running loose in the community, and residents who fail to buy city vehicle stickers for motorcycles and autos were again brought to the attention of the Venice City Council by First Ward Alderman John Fleig at Tuesday night's meeting.

"Has there ever been a ticket issued for a violation in regards to dogs without licenses?" Fleig asked.

"There are 17 dogs alone within two blocks of where I live and I think we've issued about eight licenses," the alderman said. "We spend all this time making these ordinances and then do nothing about it," he contended.

It was later determined that a total of 25 dog licenses had been purchased in Venice, but that probably hundreds of dogs still remain unlicensed.

Second Ward Alderman Hank Svezia commented, "I've got to go along with John (Fleig) on this. It's the same thing in the Second Ward."

Third Ward Alderman John Ervin questioned how dogs running loose can be caught, so the owner's can be ticketed for having unlicensed pets. It was noted that some people walk their

New county phone numbers

New telephone numbers for all Madison County governmental offices will go into operation Sept. 14, according to Mary Kane, director of administration for Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer.

Residents are being requested to clip the new listing from page 19 of today's Press-Record and put it in their telephone books for an easy reference when calling county offices starting next Wednesday.

The new telephone numbers do not appear in the current telephone books, so failure to retain the numbers now may result in delays when calling directory assistance to get numbers in the future, Mrs. Kane said.

Emergency food, shelter in county

A total of $2.5 million will soon be distributed to 35 Illinois counties to provide emergency food and shelter to needy individuals. It was announced by Public Aid Director Jeffrey C. Miller and Roger L. Frick, vice-president of the United Way of Illinois, including $90,000 to Madison County.

The federal funds have been made available to Illinois through the Emergency Food and Shelter program, which was created by Public Law 96-8 (the Jobs Bill), signed by President Reagan in March.

The $2.5 million is part of a total $6.7 million allocated to Illinois through the Federal Emergency Agency (FEMA).

Frick said local volunteer agencies in selected counties will specifically use FEMA funds to buy food and utensils, provide emergency shelter or lodging, cots and blankets and, in certain situations, offer emergency rent or mortgage payment assistance.

"The Emergency Food and Shelter program should assist many volunteer agencies in helping persons who are faced with emergency needs for food or shelter," Miller said.

"This kind of assistance program, which requires the cooperation of governments and private groups on all levels, can best ensure that dollars are spent for those most needing help."

Miller pointed to the efforts of volunteer groups, which have often "provided help despite minimal funding to those persons who, for one reason or another, were not assisted by governmental agencies."

A 13 percent unemployment rate in Madison County was considered in setting the allocation. Counties eligible to receive funds are represented by local Emergency Food and Shelter boards, made up of individuals from local agencies. Each local board has prepared a plan detailing the manner in which funds will be utilized.

Local plans were submitted Aug. 5 to the state board for review. Local agencies are currently being notified of their allocations. Counties to receive funds were selected by the state board. In order to be eligible, counties must have had an unemployment rate equal to or greater than the state's unemployment rate in calendar year 1982 (9.4 percent).

Funds available are based on the average number of unemployed persons in each county, the total amount of available cash, and other factors as determined by the state board. The state board is comprised of representatives from the United Way, the Jewish Federation, the Illinois Association of Community Action Agencies, the Illinois Department of Public Aid, the American Red Cross, the Illinois Conference of Churches, the Salvation Army and the Illinois Catholic Conference.

Individual members of the state board, in addition to determining how the funds are to be distributed, will provide assistance to the local boards.

The Illinois Department of Public Aid is providing guidance, coordination and staff assistance to the state board, and will conduct an audit of funds in accordance with FEMA provisions.

Parents Too Soon program helps teenagers in need

Each year in Illinois, the number of teenagers who become parents increases.

In 1981, more than 27,000 babies were born to teenaged mothers. The steady annual increase is of concern to health officials because this represents an increase in the number of babies born with disabilities and an increase in mortality among infants born to teenagers.

There are several reasons why this is true. Many teenagers: don't know how important good health habits are during pregnancy; don't understand why early prenatal care is vital to their own health and to the health of their babies; are not fully developed themselves, and their bodies are simply not ready for pregnancy; have poor eating habits, and smoke, drink and sometimes use drugs.

Teenaged parents have more health problems, as well as more education, employment and emotional problems. Because of these factors, a new program called Parents Too Soon is being created.

The Parents Too Soon program will consolidate the services of six state agencies so that pregnant teenagers, those who already are parents and those who want to avoid or postpone parenthood, can get an individualized planned program of help. A variety of services will be available, including prenatal care, nutrition, treatment for infants born with medical problems, day-care so the parents can stay in school or on the job, help with alcohol or drug problems, counseling, and help in brushing up on job skills.

When a teenager first seeks help through the Parents Too Soon program, a determination will be made as to what other services may be needed. Then, the teenager will be linked with those other services.

For example, a teenaged girl who seeks prenatal care also may need help with nutrition. And she may need day-care services after her baby is born. Rather than providing her with only prenatal care, she also may be enrolled in the Women, Infant and Children (WIC) nutrition program and in a parenting class. Then, after her baby is born, she may be provided with day-care services.

If her baby is born with a medical problem, Parents Too Soon will provide or help her find treatment for the child.

Many of these services already are available, but the Parents Too Soon program is pulling them all together into a more coordinated program. By using Jobs Bill funding, present services are being expanded and new ones are being initiated.

Not every teenaged mother and father in the state will be eligible, but many of them will. Any teenager who is an Illinois resident, between the ages of 11 and 19, is pregnant, already a parent, or wants to avoid becoming a parent, may call the toll-free number, 1-800-572-3270, for information about eligibility and available services.

Judges sending more felons to jail

We note with growing interest the stiffer sentences being handed down by judges in this area. Despite the shortage of bed space in the state's prisons, judges here are spreading the word that violence, burglary and serious thefts will not be tolerated. Those committing such crimes are finding themselves sentenced to prison.

Unlike and interesting sentences are being imposed, such as stipulations to waive jail time if the convicted will achieve a GED (general equivalency degree) or return to school and do well during probation.

Certainly, strong guidelines forcing criminals to improve their education, job skills, mental attitude or to make other adjustments are preferable to the criminals than going to an overcrowded prison, and they might just learn something.

Prison is not an enjoyable place to be, several prisoners who have written to the Forum tell us. The letters have strongly conveyed the fear, boredom, helplessness and loneliness they feel—particularly the fear. Fear of homosexual rape, fear of murder.

"Don't do the crime if you can't do the time," was a popular television theme. As prisons become more crowded, double-bunking of prisoners is legalized and makeshift prisons are created, prison life will become even more unpleasant.

That, coupled with the increasing chances that convicted felons will end up in prison, thanks to many of today's judges, should provide a strong deterrent to those who feel that liquor and drugs, guns, violence and stealing are the ingredients for an exciting life. They are, increasingly, the passports to prison.

There are enough holidays now

(Guest editorial by Karl Monroe of the Collinsville Herald.)

A federal holiday costs the government hundreds of millions of dollars and private industry hundreds of millions more. We now have a holiday to honor individuals, Washington and Columbus. We don't have a holiday to honor Jefferson or Franklin.

And we don't have a holiday to honor Lincoln, who is recognized world-wide for his contribution to civil rights, freeing the slaves.

That puts the movement for a federal holiday to honor Martin Luther Kings Jr. in perspective. If we need another costly federal holiday, which the economy can ill afford, Martin Luther King Day should come somewhere behind Jefferson, Franklin and Lincoln.

We suspect the people who are whooping it up for a M.L.K. holiday are much more interested in the world of than in honoring the civil rights leader. Martin Luther King was a preacher, don't forget. It would be appropriate to honor him on Sunday, with no cost to the Treasury. Church people could call it Martin Luther King Civil Rights Sunday.

Length of trucks now unlimited

In bigger also better? Authors of Illinois Bill 1305, signed into law by Governor James R. Thompson, must think so.

Truck drivers undoubtedly are impressed negatively by the size of the new taxes and fines related to their activities. And people in passenger cars surely are going to be aware of, and perhaps intimidated by, the dimensions of the highway behemoths following and passing them.

The biggest statistic is 80,000. Trucks weighing that many pounds are on the road in Illinois and elsewhere in the United States (on interstate routes, four-lane limited-access roads and other designated four-lane and two-lane highways).

Allowable width is 102 inches—a full 8½ feet. Length? The semitrailer may not exceed 33 feet in a tractor-semitrailer combination, but there is no overall length limit on either a tractor-semitrailer unit or a twin-trailer truck.

The overall gasoline tax for trucks reached 11 cents in August, and their diesel fuel tax increased to 13½ cents. All truck fees above 8,000 pounds were increased by about 20 percent; a 77,000-pound truck's plate is now $2,064 and the license for an 80,000-pounder is $2,200.

Overweight penalties will be levied in 500-pound increments, varying from a $135 fine for a violation of 2,001 to 2,500 pounds to a $475 fine for 4,501 to 5,000, plus $75 for each additional increment of 500 pounds.

To help control those who repeatedly exceed the weight law, an additional fine of $2,500 is to be levied against an individual convicted four times within a 12-month period of overweight violations.

We would add a few figures about the cost of rebuilding a mile of roadway battered by millions of passenger and freight vehicles, but that might be a bit too overwhelming in combination with the statistics just mentioned.

Quick quiz (just to make sure you were paying attention): How long can a twin-trailer truck be?

Mr. President, can you hear us?

There are "hard news days" and there are "slow news days" when some ho-hum stories rate the front page.

However, for the St. Louis papers, these should be hard news days. The Korean jetliner shot down by the Russians is still page one news. The scandal of the city's cable TV franchise. The St. Louis teachers' strike. All heavy stuff for newspapers.

Yet, many papers decided in these hard news times that President Ronald Reagan wearing a hearing aid for the first time was front page news. It even made prime-time network TV.

We are sure readers were fascinated by Nancy Reagan's quote, "I think it's great. Now I can whisper sweet nothings in his ear, and he'll hear me."

Well, I'm sure didn't want our readers to miss out on this important front page story. We don't have to shout it out to the world. The president has a hearing aid. We can whisper it to the world and he will be able to hear us.

Therefore, forgive us if we take this important front page story and ignore it.

Machinery was put into motion Tuesday night by the grade school board of education which is expected to ascertain within the next week whether or not finances can be procured with little to operate the nine schools this year; half-time or six months seem likely. The board is desirous of knowing whether $19,000 in tax money now on hand and subsequent receipts expected to reach $41,000 to $72,000 can be used to pay current bills or whether it must be applied against the $193,000 deficit, part of which was incurred in the last fiscal year which ended July 1, 1933.

Preparations are underway for the Quad-City area's second United Fund campaign which will officially begin on Oct. 9 with the first of a series of three kickoff meetings, it was announced today by G. H. Sternberg, general chairman. This year's goal is expected to be announced later this week when the Admissions and Distribution Committee, headed by Gilbert Sykes, makes its final report on agency budgets to the United Fund board of directors. Indications are the new goal will be about 10 percent over last year's quota of $261,337.

The 31 Quad-City schools had a first-day turnout of 14,777 students but have already topped the 15,000 mark with late arrivals, a survey by the Press-Record showed today. A total in excess of 15,500 is anticipated by mid-September.

A showdown over whether the Quad-City area should be allowed to vote on a proposed local junior college district is expected to take place Friday, Sept. 21, when the Illinois Junior College Board will meet at Freeport. Leo Konzen, chairman of a junior college committee established by the Chamber of Commerce of the Tri-Cities, told those present at a Prayer Breakfast yesterday that he had requested that the proposal for a Quad-City junior college district be placed on the Sept. 21 agenda. The three local school districts, Granite City, Madison and Venice, have three primary options — to create the new junior college district here before the end of the year or to join either Lewis & Clark or Belleville Junior College.

Students at Granite City High School were asked Wednesday afternoon how they felt about the delay of the start of school this year. Their comments follow.

Bob McCallister, a junior

"I think the teachers have the right to do what they think is right for them, but it's not good for the students. They say we should get a good education, then they do this."

Kathy Rains, a freshman

"I think they (the teachers) are silly if they don't strike. They (have to teach a specified number of days) anyway."

Susan Schaus, a freshman

"I think it helped a lot. It settled down people and helped to stop potential fights. It gave us more time to think about North (students) coming over."

Jim Porter, a junior

"I think that if they're going to strike...they should do it in June. Then they'd have three months to talk and settle the thing."

Bicycle was very special to a special girl

To the Editor:

The bike that was taken is not just any 'ole' bike. It belongs to an 8-year-old asthmatic child. She is on daily medication, and breathing with a machine twice a day.

The summer months are the only time she can exercise without having asthma attacks constantly.

Wednesday night, she put her bike in the back yard close to our house and someone opened our fence came in and took it.

When she feels good that is the thing she likes to do most. To ride her bike. It is very good therapy for her lungs to get stronger too.

We would appreciate it if you could return it to her. You would be helping her out a lot. There would be no questions asked.

Visitors offer the real tribute at monument

To the Editor:

The Vietnam Memorial in Washington, D.C., provoked strong reactions in people because of the design. Some thought it a fitting tribute and others a horrible disrespect.

At each end of the memorial, only a few inches high, the lines of the monument flow with the landscape behind it. Gradually the monument becomes more than double its size, the height of anyone standing in front of it. The path leads before the face of the monument, almost as though part of the memorial itself.

It is the people who view the names who offer the real tribute, the real memorial. People come to visit, to weep, to remember, as they reach to touch the stone for a few seconds, then, stand silently before this simple yet forceful, remembrance of someone they loved.

Union exec says editorial was on the mark

To the Editor:

A point in your editorial of Aug. 29, is well worth emphasizing. You accurately noted that although production is increasing at Granite City Steel, more steel is being made with fewer people.

As of this date, approximately 200 Steelworkers, having weathered a two-year depression in the steel industry, are still laid off, even though production has picked up significantly and Granite City Steel is in the black for the year.

Major concessions made by the union to help preserve jobs in the industry have yet to be translated into jobs for these unemployed steelworkers, although the translation into corporate profits is apparent.

The union has noted a rising trend toward working overtime by the company rather than calling back Steelworkers. Contracting out of Steelworkers' jobs is significantly increasing. And, the "jobbing" of work to outside firms, as you accurately depicted, is resulting in fewer jobs at Granite City Steel and dim-mer call-back hopes for laid-off Steelworkers.

New plants in this area are certainly to be welcomed. But, it is not accurate to see these firms as simply adding to the total number of jobs available in the community.

They also adversely affect the employment picture at Granite City Steel, as anyone familiar with the recent operations of the finishing departments of the company can attest.

Put simply, the combined impact of overtime, contracting out and outside processors is what keeps approximately 200 Steelworkers laid off from Granite City Steel and threatens to break their continuous service and eliminate future call-back rights.

In questioning whether "we are trading jobs for jobs" as new firms enter this area and similar Granite City Steel operations are cut back you added a realistic aspect to the enthusiasm accompanying the move of new companies into this community.

Foreign candy out of place in labor parade

To the Editor:

Monday, Sept. 5, I had the pleasure to witness the so-called Labor Day parade in Granite City.

The parade seemed to have two major themes. Buy American and hate Reagan.

There were floats and placards telling us how much Ronald Reagan hates American labor.

These "loyal American laborers" who rode on the floats and carried the placards sprinkled the crowds with liberal amounts — pun intended — of penny candy.

I received five pieces of the candy from my front lawn and, lo and behold, what should I discover but these words stamped in bright purple and red letters on the candy wrappers, "made in Yugoslavia."

In my opinion, those union hypocrites can complain about President Reagan till they turn blue in the face, but I'll bet you won't find one foreign-made jelly bean in the White House.

ROY SCHMITT
2405 Madison Ave.

(Editor's Note: Thank you Mr. Schmitt for the enclosed candy wrapper which supports your stand. We also noticed candy from two foreign countries. By the way, did you notice the steelworker on one of the Steelworkers' local floats drinking a Coors beer? We thought Coors was on the boycott list. We support labor's attempts to get people back to work and support the Labor Day parade, but some things are hard to overlook.)

Opposes GCS bubble plan

To the Editor:

Why all the flap about cleaning Edwardsville Road?

Why not have the city clean it and then dump it on Granite City Steel property where it came from.

No wonder GCS is pushing the "bubble concept." It is to their advantage. They would be off the hook. They wouldn't have to put any money out for pollution control. I too would trade a bushel of ashes for a bushel of coal. Why not anything said about the red dust that comes from the BOF (basic oxygen furnace) operations which I have to wipe from my car every day and clean out the birdbath.

Enough dust already.

Julius, 42, of 1234 Carr St., driver of the auto, and her two passengers, Keith Julius, 21, and Felonda Julius, both of the Carr Street address. Mrs. Julius and Yolonda were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, reports said. David K. Mahle, 26, of Clintonville, Pa., driver of a Nielson Brothers Cartage truck from Chicago, pulled his rig into the passing lane on eastbound 20th Street to make a wide turn due to the size of the vehicle, he told police. The Julius car also was turning right from the curb lane when it was struck on the left rear. The impact pushed the auto forward, causing it to strike a power pole.

Learning centers assured for year

The Granite City Board of Education has agreed not to alter or eliminate schools' learning centers in 1984-85.

This was one of the informal, initial agreements reached by teacher and district bargaining teams which they simultaneously completed wording of a formal, 43-article agreement that went into effect Sept. 2.

The board also does not intend to reduce class size by redistributing present attendance boundaries or by busing students from one school to another.

Some transfers of pupils are being made this week in instances where bonafide reasons are cited by families and where there is room to accommodate the student.

The board and Teachers Local 743 reached harmony on a schedule under which some class size averages will result in rehiring of dismissed teachers, and other averages will trigger adjustments in at least 50 percent of the cases.

A formula sets these initial and second trigger points: kindergarten, 34 and 37; first through third grades, 33 and 35; fourth through sixth grades, 36 and 39; and seventh through twelfth grades, 37 and 39.

Once the lower figure has been reached for a particular grade in a building, half of such classes will be adjusted by assignment of more teachers; flexibility was retained because of the physical limits of some schools and because two classes of the same size may differ in pupil learning readiness, negotiators said.

When the higher enrollment average is reached, all of the affected classes will be adjusted on the basis of sixth-day enrollment.

The board hopes to have to resolve problems where the adjustment would create classes of less than 20 pupils.

The new working agreement extends to Aug. 14, 1984, and would remain in effect an additional year unless one or both parties gave written notice of termination by Feb. 15, 1984.

A new article outlines recall of the 139 honorably dismissed teachers. It says that they—and certified personnel who are subsequently honorably dismissed in any school term—have a right to be recalled to fill vacancies for two years and until the first regular board meeting following the sixth day of pupil enrollment in the third school year.

The school district will recognize any and all valid Illinois teacher certificates held by any honorably dismissed teacher, even though it may be out of date.

Rep. Simon asks president to declare crop disaster

"Madison county, with an estimated 50 percent loss of soybeans and 60 percent loss of corn is one of the nation's counties hardest hit by the drought," U.S. Rep. Paul Simon said after a meeting with secretary of Agriculture John Block and other high government officials.

Simon, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate, said he observed that there is a need to solve both the inevitable problem of the drought and some basic long-range problems that farmers face.

Simon also indicated strong opposition to any contemplated agricultural embargo with the Soviets.

"Horrible as their attack on the Korean jetliner was," Simon noted, "it is no reason to shoot ourselves in the foot. For the sake of our future, it is important that we establish ourselves as a reliable trading partner after unfortunate past embargoes."

The Southern Illinois legislator praised Rep. Charles Hayes of Chicago for being present at the bipartisan meeting, "even though his district has no farmers." He represents people who eat food and they have a stake in what happens with agriculture."

While at the meeting Simon stressed the need to have Illinois officially declared a disaster area by the president. Simon urged Block to expedite the necessary processing.

"This frank exchange with the U.S. Senate and House observed that there is a need to solve both the inevitable problem of the drought and some basic long-range problems that farmers face."

Young buyers already dependent on multiple incomes to handle housing expenses and they will pay a greater share of their income in the future. Most of the new forms of financing assume increases in mortgagors' income; should incomes stabilize or decrease, the result could be foreclosures or bankruptcies.

According to Mendelson, housing consumption will be reduced despite heavy resistance from owners and renters. While continually-increasing consumption has

The available balance in state's general funds at the end of August was $147 million, the highest end-of-year balance since 1970, says Comptroller Roland W. Harris said. The $147 million was made possible on the basis of the state's additional $50 million in the private sector for the Casual Disasters

Total general revenues in fiscal 1984 were $1.450 billion, or $121 million more than in 1983, or about the same total last year, which added $50 million in borrowed funds.

Two-thirds of the revenue jump was attributable to the increased state income tax, which rose 10 percent. General revenues increased 74 percent or 22 percent over the last two months of fiscal year. The state tax also increased $30 million or 7.5 percent, a possible indication of an improving economy.

General expenditures for Burriss said "lapse period" spending in July and August was $383 million, $18 million less than last year. Lapse spending refers to payments on bills or debts from previous fiscal year appropriations. All such unpaid bills must be paid by Sept. 30 and then be submitted to the p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 14, at the GSA office, 230 S. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill., 60604. Persons wishing bid forms may write that address or telephone 1-312-353-5383.

According to GSA, "The property consists of 44.85 acres of land, zoned for heavy industry and improved with a rail marshaling yard, fencing, roads and utilities."

However, Ranft says the GSA has placed too many restrictions on the property to make it overly attractive. Utilities have to be separated from the depot's utilities, fencing must be erected by the buyer to separate the property from the depot and a road must be built into the property. "There is no good entrance by truck. The proposal says Chicago Avenue, but that is not satisfactory," Ranft added.

Aging rail tracks which are "nearly unusable" pose another problem. There are 19 rail tracks on the property, all of which would have to be removed or used by a major industry, Ranft said.

Terminal Railroad serves the property, which means that all cargo brought in will be subject to a transfer fee as it is switched from a major rail carrier to the local Terminal system.

Another factor is that the GSA will not accept a bid lower than the government's appraised value, which is kept secret. "If a bid comes below the appraisal value, they throw it out," Ranft noted. He said that if the port acquires the property, it would "let it sit. There are no plans for it. I just think somebody locally should keep hold of it. Then, if we would get our money back. That's only fair," the port director added.

He said he appointed a committee yesterday morning to "take a hard look at it." Members of that committee are Homer Huber, Dale Arnett and Howard Silas. They were to be informed of their appointment to the committee today.

Their job will be to determine the cost of improving the property to meet the GSA specifications, as well as determining a fair bid price.

dogs and other pets can be seen following bicycles down the streets.

Fleig said the dogs in question are not strays, but are owned by residents. "There are some people around here that don't pay taxes and don't buy licenses. In fact they don't do anything," he contended.

Svezla also questioned only nine city (vehicle) stickers being issued, to date, to owners of motorcycles. "I know we've many more than that running around town."

At the present time, a total of 1,140 city stickers have been issued to residents with motor vehicles, a slight decrease from the number purchased in 1982. Thirty-two arrest tickets have been issued to persons not having city stickers on their vehicles, it was noted. Police Chief Parris Smith was instructed to crack down on persons violating the city vehicle licensing ordinance and the owners of unlicensed pets.

City may act against a Nameoki Road business

Michael DeRuntz, assistant zoning inspector for Granite City, told the city council Tuesday night that the Plan Commission's attorney has agreed with the commission's opinion that a tractor trailer repair service on Nameoki Road is allegedly in violation of the city's C-5 zoning classification for the area.

Earlier, the city granted the firm a city business license. Some action now is expected to be taken by the Plan Commission.

In a somewhat similar situation, Mayor Schuler said plans to open an automotive body repair shop on Pontoon Road also are being investigated.

In other zoning business:

Chouteau OKs use of hall for blood drive

The Chouteau Township Board of Trustees Tuesday night approved a request from the local chapter of the American Red Cross to use the township hall for a blood drive on Oct. 4.

Steve Novosel presided at the meeting in the absence of Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks and announced a public meeting of the Corps of Engineers Sept. 15 at 7 p.m. at Collinsville High School.

A discussion was conducted on stripping, sealing and waxing the floor of the township auditorium and the trustees voted to table a decision until Sparks returns from vacation. Mrs. Patricia Polley, town clerk, told the group that the floor was last renovated April 3, 1981, at a cost of $180 and the estimate she received this week was $210.

Mrs. Polley read zoning violations cited for high weeds, no connection to the sewer line, derelict cars and unlicensed vehicles located at various locations in the township.

Busy schedule for the Sarah Circle

Niedringhaus United Methodist Church was the site of the Sept. 1 meeting of the Sarah Circle, hosted by Mrs. Bessie Walton, Mrs. Alice Cruse, Mrs. Dora Yonings and Mrs. Eva Evans.

Led by Mrs. Mary Ahlvers, the members discussed upcoming events, including the annual conference meeting on Oct. 1 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Nameoki Methodist Church.

Liberties with child alleged Luciano Louis Ruggeri, 50, of 2606 Kirkpatrick Homes, was sent to Madison County jail Wednesday, after he was arrested on one felony count of indecent liberties with a child.

The charge was made in an informational document issued by the state's attorney office.

Associate Judge Thomas Hildebrand sent Ruggeri's bond at $100,000 during a court appearance Tuesday afternoon.

Late last week, a woman from Kirkpatrick Homes reported to police that her daughter, 10, had been sexually assaulted Sept. 1. The felony count was based on the allegation.

Ruggeri was taken into custody Saturday by Granite City police after being taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for possible nose and neck injuries following an apparent fight allegedly involving Alan L. Turcott, 20, of Kirkpatrick Homes.

Turcott was subsequently charged with disorderly conduct and later released notice to appear for a future court date.

Ruggeri was then held at the Granite City police station based on a request by the state's attorney office.

HOME BURGLARIZED
Stealing a pillowcase, a burglar used it to carry loot from the Irene Holsinger residence, 1605 Pontoon Road, last week. Medication was among the items taken, a preliminary inventory showed. Two bedrooms were ransacked.

Agricultural disaster declared

Governor James R. Thompson has declared the entire state of Illinois an agricultural disaster area, based on flash reports of county-by-county and livestock damages compiled by the USDA's State Emergency Board.

The governor made the declaration while showing U.S. Agriculture Secretary John Block, in Illinois at the governor's request, the severity of damage to Illinois cash crops at a Bond County farm.

"We know the situation was severe, but not until we received the flash reports did we realize the statewide magnitude of this disaster," Thompson said. "The flash reports indicate an average 50 percent loss to corn and a 38 percent loss to soybeans."

Flash reports from each of the 102 Illinois counties were requested by the governor on Aug. 19. These reports were then analyzed by the Illinois Emergency Services and Disaster Agency and the Illinois Department of Agriculture.

In addition, an estimated 14,000 poultry, 12,000 hogs, 1,200 cattle and 700 sheep have died due to the extended hot, dry conditions.

"These flash reports are now in the hands of Secretary Block and I have asked him in a letter to offer emergency loans and other assistance that may be available as soon as the estimated losses can be verified after harvest," the governor said.

Emergency farm loans from the Farmers Home Administration can be made available if an after-harvest, countywide cash crop yield reduction exceeds 30 percent. The purpose of the below-market rate loan program is to enable disaster-affected farmers to purchase seeds for the next planting season and avoid bankruptcy.

In Madison County, 66 percent of the corn crop and 50 percent of the soybeans are believed lost, the report shows.

GC Citizens' Forum to study home rule power

Approximately 70 people attended the second meeting of the Granite City Citizens' Forum last week.

President Don Conley announced that Southern Illinois University

Edwardsville Professor Paul Donnelly will address the Forum on the "Pro and Con of Home Rule" at the September meeting. Donnelly also suggested that the citizens contact Governor James Thompson to sign Senate Bills 99 and 100, which, if signed, will increase the general Homestead exemption from $1,500 to $2,000.

Committee reports were made to the Forum membership on recent meetings of the city council, the park district board and the school district board.

Russell Weil's report to the Forum on the recent city council meetings highlighted the purchase of new police vehicles, the recent hiring of additional city employees and the increased tax levy recently passed by the council.

A great deal of open discussion followed Nick Lucido's report on the school district board meetings, which covered the disagreement between the teachers and the school administration.

The members of the Forum applauded the comments of Hartan Dickey concerning the park district board's attempt to reduce the purchase of new police vehicles, which would result in a tax levy at the 1980 level.

Tommye Hopke reported that the membership committee has been instrumental in getting several people registered to vote, and they will continue to concentrate efforts towards voter registration.

The by-laws, which had been adopted by the executive board of the Forum, were presented to the membership by Sandi Dakins.

All citizens are being invited to attend the next meeting, which will be at 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 26, at the Harold Brown Recreational Center, Room 3, Franklin Avenue and Pontoon Road.

Returns from Texas seminar

Linda Lea Beck of Granite City, an independent beauty consultant with Dallas-based Mary Kay Cosmetics, Inc., has returned from the company's 20th anniversary seminar held at the Dallas Convention Center Aug. 29 to 31.

This year's seminar was entitled "Celebrate" in honor of the company's 20th anniversary. Founder and Board Chairman Mary Kay Ash opened her direct sales cosmetic company in 1963. The $4 million seminar is an annual seminar comprised of three days of training, product education and motivation for the 25,000 Mary Kay representatives who attend.

Daily workshops on product knowledge, business management and sales techniques were taught by sales directors from Mary Kay's 200,000-member sales force. An upbeat, New York-style fashion show presented the latest in fall fashions for both men and women. A professional makeup artist also performed makeovers featuring Mary Kay's new fall colors and various beauty tips.

Highlighting the seminar was awards night. Mary Kay personally crowned and congratulated the 1983 "queens" and their courts, awarding fur coats, diamond rings, luxurious cruises and the famous pink Cadillac and Buick Regals to the company's highest achievers.

Mrs. Beck joined Mary Kay Cosmetics as an independent beauty consultant in 1983. She is married to Bert Beck Jr. and they have one daughter, Nannette.

Cahokia Mounds fascinated Cousteau team during visit

By JIM WOODCOCK

Rhonda Johnson was sitting in the model village at Cahokia Mounds State Park, dressed in saggy Indian attire and weaving a wooten blanket.

"Let's show everyone what they have to appreciate in the Midwest," Reid Lewis told her before filming began. "This isn't something everyone just flies over."

Mrs. Johnson, a 36-year-old curator for the St. Louis museum of art and part-time back-strap weaver, was re-enacting pre-historic river life for the camera crew and Calypso divers. Lewis, along with his brother Ken, are advance film scouts for the Cousteau expedition, which arrived in St. Louis last week.

While a tanned French and Spanish film crew worked, Johnson explained how weaving might have been done at Cahokia Mounds when it was a pre-historic trade center.

Lewis translated in French to head diver Raymond Coll, who modeled his red-capped head (the Cousteau divers wear their red-knit caps almost all of the time). Coll watched Johnson work, and then asked questions in French. Lewis translated again, and so the interview progressed.

Both Lewis brothers speak French smoothly, which provides them with translator roles for the Cousteau crew. Both have also re-enacted historic expeditions down the Mississippi by canoe. The LaSalle expedition in 1674 and the Marquette-Joliet expedition in 1673. Their river expertise lends the Cousteau expedition valuable background.

But why are disciples of Cousteau, usually considered the oceanic type, in the dry Midwest digging out anecdotes about Indian lore?

"Jacques started looking into freshwater bodies a few years ago when he looked at rivers on a world map," Ken Lewis said. "He said that they looked like roots to a tree, and then he derived that rivers are the roots to the ocean."

But it went much further than that once Cousteau's curiosity was awakened, according to Lewis. "Cousteau followed with the theory that in pre-historic times, rivers were the primary influence on the civilization of man."

"And the Mississippi is the most interlinked river to civilized man," Lewis said. "We've been to the Nile and Amazon, but nothing like this."

Which is the reason Cousteau's crew started the Mississippi expedition in New Orleans five weeks ago after a three-week planning session. There is no timetable as to when the expedition will end in St. Paul, Minn.

It also is the reason the expedition studied evidence at Cahokia Mounds, evidence which suggests the Mississippi truly was responsible for civilization throughout much of the Midwest.

The Lewis brothers travel by car ahead of Cousteau's crew, searching for interesting leads to film for a one-hour special presentation.

Once a four-month editing session has been taken care of, Lewis said the film should be ready for unveiling at the New Orleans World's Fair during the spring.

Later, it will be shown by the Turner Broadcasting System, which also is a sponsor of the expedition.

Although the journey is only five weeks old, Cousteau's nearly five hours of film has been shot. The reason, he said, is because the Cousteau team is "fascinated" by the trip and particularly enhanced with the St. Louis area.

"They're definitely very impressed with everything here," Lewis said. "And one reason we made this trip in the first place is because Jacques is a big Mark Twain fan."

"The Mississippi is a great river, which is the reason you have this," Lewis added, motioning to the Cahokia Mounds area. "The river is what the Indians were living here in prehistoric times, and it does so much for you today. It is a well-managed river."

Although Lewis has to travel in advance of the expedition's vessel Calypso — a Cahokia trademark along with the red-stocking caps — he has had plenty of time on shooting locations to get to know Cousteau and his crew.

"Jacques is just an amazing man for his age," Lewis said. "I know he's in his seventies, he's down to earth and greatly, greatly admired by his crew of divers."

And the divers, Lewis said, are a rare breed. "They are a most unusual bunch of men," Lewis said. "They must not only be expert divers, but they must also be expert film makers as well. They must be the very best in both, and that is hard to find."

Lewis added that the opportunity to explore the billion-gallon Bonne Terre Mine, 40 miles southwest of St. Louis, provided Cousteau's diving squad with an unexpected delight.

"When they came over on this trip from France they didn't think they were ever going to get into the water," Lewis said. "But when that mine flooded it left lockers, equipment and all sorts of surprises down there for them to find."

Before the expedition left, Lewis wanted to leave a message to the St. Louis area on behalf of Jacques Cousteau and his expedition crew.

"We are here to foster an appreciation for the water resources you have in this area," he said. "I think the theory that you don't destroy things you appreciate."

Arlin Davis begins serving sentence

Arlin Davis has begun serving the prison sentence he was given in connection with the fatal auto wreck he was involved in on State Aid 35 on New Year's Eve 1979.

A spokesman said Davis, 33, of Holiday Mobile Home Park, has been in the Madison County jail since Aug. 26.

Davis was awaiting transfer to the Menard Correctional Center. All prisoners from the Madison County jail are taken to Menard for assignment to one of the department of Correction's facilities, a jail spokesman said.

Crowding in the state's prisons has slowed the process in which new inmates are accepted.

Davis was convicted in November 1980 and was later sentenced to three years in prison on three counts of reckless homicide, one count of driving while intoxicated and one count of driving with a suspended or revoked license.

Davis was sentenced to three years on each of the reckless homicide convictions, one year on the driving while intoxicated charge and one year on the driving with a suspended or revoked license charge. The two one-year sentences were to have

Davis' legal battle ended in June, after the Illinois Fifth District Appellate Court reduced from 10 years to three the sentence he had been given in Madison County circuit court. The appellate court had previously upheld the convictions themselves.

Davis decided not to appeal to the Illinois Supreme Court. Davis remained free until late last month while waiting for the court mandate, according to his attorney, Jim Wallis.

The appellate court ruled Davis had been incorrectly given consecutive sentences on four of the five charges on which he was convicted.

Davis was sentenced to three years on each of the reckless homicide convictions, one year on the driving while intoxicated charge and one year on the driving with a suspended or revoked license charge. The two one-year sentences were to have been served at the same time. All the sentences must be served at the same time because the crimes were part of a single course of conduct, the appellate judges ruled.

Killed in the 1979 wreck were Granite City residents Larry Lehman, 42, and daughters Nicole Lehman, 5, and Stacy Lehman, 1. Lehman's wife, Bev, and Davis were seriously injured in the head-on crash.

Davis invited all his friends and former customers to stop by and say hello.

School bus for Hamilton Drive

An additional bus route to serve the Hamilton Drive area of Maryville Elementary School was approved Tuesday night by the Granite City Board of Education, but any further bus system expansions will await a state survey this month.

The new route was created on the basis of "serious safety hazard findings." A lack of sidewalks, requiring youngsters to walk on a roadway, was cited.

Whether more routes will be planned will depend on results of a study by officials, Assistant Supt. Frank L. Kraus said.

Kraus related that "Public Act 81-782 amended Sections 29-3 and 29-5 to allow districts to receive reimbursement from the state superintendent of education for busing of school children for distances of less than one and a half miles where walking constitutes a serious hazard to pupil safety due to vehicular traffic."

"The Act provides that a school board may provide free transportation in such cases, but does not mandate it. (Buses are provided for distances of 1 1/2 miles or more from schools or from public bus stops.)"

"This law provides that transportation shall not be provided if adequate transportation for the public is available."

"Under the Act, a local school board is to determine what constitutes a serious hazard, in accord with guidelines of the Illinois Department of Transportation in consultation with the state education superintendent."

"The rules relate to children walking to school. They do not pertain to hazards to adults, bicyclists or operators of motor vehicles."

"The four basic types of serious safety hazards encountered are walking along a roadway, walking on a roadway, crossing a roadway, and crossing railroad tracks."

"The application must be sent to the district office of the Illinois Department of Transportation. If it approves the application, we will receive reimbursement for these studies."

With six of the 18 Granite City schools closed to students this fall, the school system restricted all attendance zones. Previous bus routes are continuing, and the new route is being created for Hamilton Drive area families.

Some kindergarten through sixth graders encounter no road shoulder during their walk toward Maryville School for a distance of more than 350 feet, a study showed. Traffic speed averages 30 to 35 miles per hour.

Volume of traffic on the two-lane street is 100 to 399 vehicles hourly. The length of the hazardous section is believed to total between 8 mile and one mile.

With Namek School closed and many of the students assigned to Frohardt School, a request for a bus route in their area was received from a group of parents residing in the vicinity of Pontoon Road and Wabash Avenue.

Board Member David Partney said the Hamilton Drive decision might apply to other neighborhoods.

Kraus said it depends on a state point system, and that most of the areas which lack school bus routes have an insufficient number of hazard points.

Robert Lybarger, a Venice Avenue parent, said his home is 1.2 miles from Frohardt and that some of his neighbors live much farther than that, especially when they use logical walking routes.

A woman from the vicinity of Ball and Ferguson avenues said she could join with other parents in hiring a bus and driver to serve her neighborhood, but that she thinks it is unfair to have to bear the expense. She estimated the cost at $13 to $14 a month.

Kraus said there are seven other areas with similar situations.

Continuing study was promised by board members, with a decision to be made soon.

Hogan, '42 gridadders: The best of a 'Happy' era

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record

Who was the first quarterback in the Tri-City area to use the "T" formation in high school football?

It was Johnny L. Hogan, who along with Len Davis, Ennit (Mutt) Rensing and Bill Schooley, has to be counted in the district's top three scoring leaders of all time.

Hogan reached his peak in the 1942 high school football campaign when he finished second in the entire metropolitan St. Louis prep scoring parade behind Belleville's Dick McElvey, the Maroons' triple threat ace.

However, when Granite City faced Belleville that '42 season, the Warriors held the Maroons scoreless and shut them out, 6-0, and fairly well bottled up McElvey. Going into the game, Belleville was odds-on favorites to win. And the key to that upset victory for Granite City was Hogan and his "run-ning" of the T-formation and his use of the option pass, or say like a decoy, that gave the Warriors the victory over Belleville.

Late in the game, in the final minute, Hogan was ripping off large strides of yardage and the Belleville defense made the mistake that set up Granite City's winning touchdown. With less than a minute to go, Hogan started around end and the entire Maroons' defensive hords moved against him. But, at the last second, Hogan lofted a beautiful and soft pass right into the arms of his favored pass-catcher, right and Alvin Wigger, for the tie.

Johnny's pass for the extra point was off target, but the six points were all Granite City needed and made the Warriors the only undefeated 11 in the Southwestern Illinois Conference. But, the Warriors were destined to lose to east St. Louis Flyers to drop the loop tie.

Hogan, along with teammates Bob Forshee and Joe Hiles, were named to all the newspapers' Southwestern Conference All-Stars. Wigger was named to most second teams.

Athletic ability seems to run in families; now, going into the 1983 campaign, a little over 40 years from the days that Johnny Hogan ruled the local prep football game, his twin grandsons, Tippy and Jamie Hogan, appear ready to make a bid to add more luster to the Hogan name.

The pair, who starred the past three seasons at Grigley Junior high in not only football, but basketball and baseball as well, are working hard to prepare themselves for possible berths their sophomore, junior and senior years on Coach Tom Wyrostek's Granite City Senior High's grid squad. The twins were key members of the Grigley Gators of Coach John Sikora's 1982 football team.

Tim is an outstanding passer while his twin, Jamie, is his favorite target. In basketball, the two at guards gave the Gators a one-two scoring punch hard to match, both carrying 17-points per game averages.

The sons of athletic heroes have a tough job to live up to their famous fathers... it isn't ever an easy role to fulfill. Just ask Kelly Hogan, Johnny's son and the father of the twins.

It is an ever repeated and poignant and sometimes sad story. Everyone, including the system's coaches, expects the son of an athletic star to take over where his father left off; and, it rarely, if ever, happens that way.

How did Kelly Hogan solve the problem of living up to his dad's bigger-than-life football reputation? He didn't even try. Explains Kelly: "Fortunately for me, in this respect, I developed early in swimming and diving prior to my high school days and my competitive efforts were directed to AAU events." Records show that he did extremely well in Amateur Athletic Association tournaments and events in the Midwest.

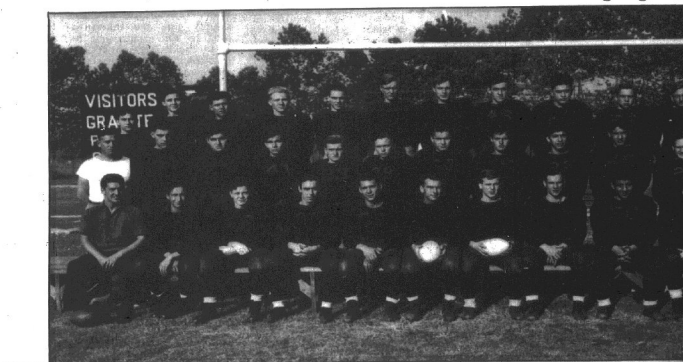

He adds: "When it came time for the twins to go out for sports, I didn't try to influence them in making their choices. Naturally, as I expect any father would be, I'm very proud of Timmie and Jamie talents in football, basketball and baseball."

Says Hogan: "I don't know, at this stage, which sport they'll concentrate on as to a possible pro career. And, if it turns out that they decide not to opt for a career in professional sports, well, that'll be OK with me, too."

Two men, it seems, played an important role in shaping Kelly Hogan's life: his dad, Johnny, and Bud Early, master plumber who taught him his trade of plumbing. "Both dad and Mr. Early were perfectionists... they weren't satisfied with anything less than one's best work." Early is now, in semi-retirement, a city inspector.

And, if there is any lingering doubt in the reader's mind that athletic ability runs in families, then forget it, because it does. The twins' grandpa on their grandmother's side, Ace Damote, is still a top-flight bowler at age 90. He was 12 when he won his prime prize along with Granite City's legendary great legger, Max Legate. He still carries a 170-pin average.

But, back to Johnny Hogan and the brilliant '42 Granite City High football team. The starting lineup was: at left end, it was Alvin Wigger; at left tackle, was held down by Clarence McGovern; alongside "Clancy" at guard was the sturdy Bob Forshee; in the middle at center was Greg Matosian; the right guard assignment was held down by the rugged Benny Michel; big and mobile Joe Hiles was like a Stonewall Jackson at the right tackle berth; and at right end, it was Linus Kinder.

Calling signals, of course, was Hogan; flanking Hogan at left halfback it was Bob Wickman and on the right it was Kenny Hillmer. At the fullback slot it was the hard-driving Rich Depigian. An oddity: Hillmer made the team his senior year, the only year he tried out for the team. He then, and now, loves tennis.

In those days, the starting lineup was expected... and did... played both ways, on defense and offense. At that time, in the early dark days of World War II, when it looked like A. Hitler and his German war machine was about to take over the entire world, a dark shadow hung over most young men. Johnny Hogan and his teammates were no exceptions and, after a short stint in the merchant marine, he joined up in the U.S. Navy early in 1943 and served until January of 1946. At age 32 (1978), the entire Granite City community was saddened by the sudden death of Johnny Hogan, that little will-of-the-whip runner, that accurate passer and that pin-point punter who thrilled southwestern Illinois grid fans back there from 1939 through 1942.

Tuesday Evening

Warriors blast Explorers 2-0 for second shutout

By MICHAEL PARTELS
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Granite City High's 2-0 soccer victory Tuesday night over the Marquette Explorers was the 23rd consecutive win for the host team on the Grumet.

And, for junior goalkeeper Jeb Blasingame, the number 23 was also a significant figure. Blasingame, who recently celebrated his 16th birthday, went the distance for the Warriors and, in the meantime, posted his 23rd career shutout. It was his second of the young season.

The Warriors shut out a tenacious, talented, young Alton-Marquette team. But coach Gene Baker, judiciously watching his defending state champions, was only cautiously pleased with his team's performance.

"We're a good team," Baker said after the contest Tuesday night. "We're pleased with the victory but we don't feel we played well. Usually our pressure is better."

The Warriors, in a rematch of the seconal championship game last year against Alton Marquette, repeated the victory by the same score, 2-0. But there were few similarities.

The Warriors struck quickly. Scott Blasingame shot a rocket off the leg of Marquette's Brian Parker at 10:42, less than a minute after Paul Macios shook the Explorer goal with a shot off the crossbar.

The second Warrior goal came in the second period at 25:36 on a direct kick set up by a foul committed against David Bagby by Marquette's Mike Klansner. Matt Sheridan took the kick, hitting a phenomenal shot against sophomore goalie Scott Taul.

The shot, which resembled a topspin passing shot in tennis, floated over the defense and cut sharply down off the right of the crossbar into the left side of the net.

Baker was pleased with the efforts of Sheridan throughout the game, believing the senior forward to be of All-American caliber.

"He anchored our backfield and then scored a goal," Baker said. "He's a pretty nice, and class, kid, number one in his class."

But even with his praise for Sheridan, Baker credits his entire team, too, for the victory.

The first half belonged to the Granite City squad, with the red-clad Warriors outshooting the visitors from Marquette, 8-2, while only calling on their goalkeeper one time for a save. But, in the second half, however, things began to sway towards Marquette.

Marquette stormed out at the beginning of the third period, putting more pressure on the Warrior defense. "That's the time they had to make their move," Baker said.

"They gave effort and we were tending to stand around. The kids need to learn to relax."

The Warrior coach said his team hasn't learned yet to play the rhythm of the game, the ups and downs of momentum.

Alton outshot the Warriors, 3-2, in the half and Granite City held on for the shutout despite a couple of close calls at the net.

Alton coach Joe Gentelin was disappointed in his team's effort, particularly in the first half.

"We started out slow," Gentelin began. "They came out real quick. They were moving real well. For a while they took us out of the game."

"In the second half we came out and played the way we could play," he continued. "We had our shot and it didn't go for us."

For the game, Granite City outshot the Explorers, 14-6, and forced the Alton goalie to make nine saves, while only calling on Blasingame twice, once in each half.

Two yellow cards were called against Alton-Marquette. The first against Peter Tussonari in the first period and the second against Mike Carrow. Granite City was tagged for one yellow card, against Mike Houston, in the third period.

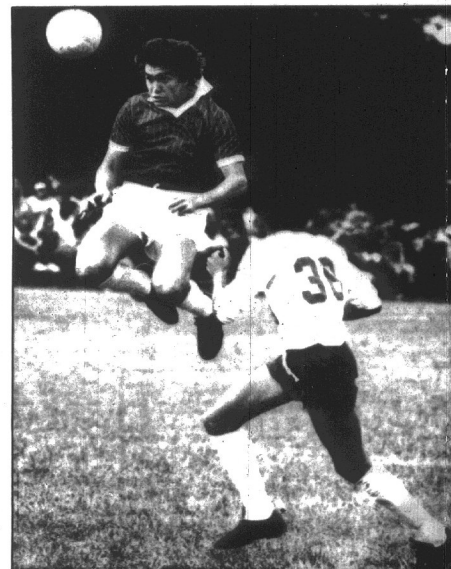

Baker felt the Marquette game was the "pivotal" game of the season but is now preparing for what he says is the biggest test of the year.

Monday afternoon the Warriors travel to Hazelwood East, facing a highly rated squad.

"We have only six days to prepare for Hazelwood," Baker said. "Their field is a little difficult to play on for us. The acoustics are terrible. In order to talk you need a microphone."

Baker would like to see the return of Nathan Crane to the team for the Hazelwood contest, but is uncertain whether the young striker will be ready.

"He is very effective, a finisher, but we can use him at other places," Baker said. "He gives a little more size, more strength and he's got experience." But Baker says Crane has been having some trouble with his back since the beginning of the season and said Crane has not been able to practice in 10 days.

Warrior spikers zap Triad in debut

By PAULA WISE
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Granite City High School volleyball started off on a high note Tuesday night as the Warriors posted a decisive win over the Knights of Triad.

Vicki Smith got things going for the Warriors in the first game serving six straight points before Triad coach, Judy Ulrich, called her first time-out. Smith then served two more points before Lisa Lilley hit a hard spike which landed just out of bounds.

The Warriors continued to score throughout the game, with consistent play by Smith and Debbie Brandt.

Triad never seemed to get on track in the first game, scoring only two points. A lack of concentration seemed to bother the Warriors in the second game. Triad started the scoring and moved to a 9-4 lead before a time-out by Warrior coach, Wilma Schulze, broke their momentum.

After the timeout, a sideline spike by Lilley, which was probably the best of the game, and a fine defensive block by Brandt initiated the Warrior scoring drive. Strong serving by Michelle Sikora, Anne Puhse, and Lilley then gave Granite the lead 10-9.

A missed spike by Smith opened the door for the Knights. Triad scored three unanswered points to regain the lead 12-10 before a time-out returned the ball to the Warriors.

An out of bounds serve by Brandt quickly shifted the momentum. Coach Schulze allowed Triad to score only one point before asking for a time-out. Again her strategy seemed to work as the Triad player missed her next serve.

The Warriors came on strong to finish the game with Smith serving five straight points.

Schulze was very pleased with her team's performance. "I told them we would win if we served and received serve well," Coach Schulze stated after the game.

The only problem Schulze foresaw her team having is running the multiple offense at the beginning of the season.

"For the first few games the offense will not run smoothly," Schulze stated. Schulze is confident her team will fair well this season.

"I think we should do very well in our conference," Schulze added.

The Warriors next contest is Monday Sept. 12th against conference rival Edwardsville.

Selected Over DePew

White to start as Illini placekicker

By ROGER KRAMER
For the Press-Record
CHAMPAIGN—Although Daren DePew, a 1983 graduate of Granite City North High School, won't be starting as the placekicker for the University of Illinois in its opener against the University of Missouri Saturday, Illini Head Coach Mike White said the freshman is still very much in the battle for the position.

White announced during a telephone press conference in Chicago Wednesday that his son, sophomore Chris White, will start for the Illini at Columbia, Mo.

In August, Coach White indicated he may divide the duties between Daren and Chris. White said he decided to use White solely in the first game and analyze the performance afterwards.

"Daren is very much a candidate for the position, but we're not going to alternate the kickers in our first game. We're going to give Chris the opportunity to prove himself against Missouri and then look at his performance," Coach White said.

"Daren was a highly recruited freshman, and he and Chris had the purest form of competition for the position on the team. We named Chris the kicker for Saturday because he looks a little more prepared to go," Coach White said.

White said both DePew's and White's kicking ability both match the ability of their predecessor, Mike Bass, during the start of his junior year. Both kickers were able to kick 45-yard field goals during practice on a natural grass surface.

Bass is the Illini's all-time leading scorer with a 209-point career.

Illini coaches noted DePew has the stronger leg of the two, but he had some problems adjusting to the artificial turf of Illinois' Memorial Stadium. The turf affected his approach to the kicking tee that kept him from gaining the acceleration needed to kick the ball hard and accurately.

"Daren's going to be an excellent kicker, but you can't have two kickers in a game because it puts so much pressure on the kickers. He won't kick the first game, but he will be given the opportunity to show himself," Coach White said.

Because of the closeness of the placekicker battle, DePew may have a chance to prove himself against Stanford Sept. 17 in the Illini's home opener in Champaign.

Coach White compares the battle for placekicker to the battle for quarterback. As quarterback, Jack Trudeau, Ken Cruz and Kris Jenner were all fiercely competing for the starting job.

and Trudeau edged his starters for the starting job.

"Jack Trudeau will be the starting quarterback, and he will play the entire game, and I'm confident he'll do the job. He's doing all he can to survive and do the best he can. We're going to be looking at his situation too," Coach White said.

The philosophy of the Illinois coaching staff has been to use the first two games of the season and tune-ups for the Big 10 Conference season. White and his staff will continue to evaluate his players up to the Big 10 opener at Michigan State Sept. 24.

White said the Illinois running game is solid with the running of runningback Dwight Beverly and fullback Thomas Rooks. Cam Benson at split end, Time Brewer at tight end and flanker Don Passmore will be Trudeau's top receivers.

Although the pass has been the most effective tool for the Illini the last two seasons, White said the Illini will do a little more running this season.

"We don't want to put a lot of pressure on Jack his first time out. He has a tough road to follow after the performance of Tony Eason last season," White said.

Kickoff time for the season opener with Missouri is 1:30 p.m. at Faurot Field.

Connors: A friendly net adversary

By AL BARNES
For the Press-Record

One of the toughest tests to accomplish in sports is to repeat as national champion in tennis in the National Open, now in progress at New York.

Jimmy Connors, our own Jimbo, is the defending champion and, from the TV shots I've seen of him in the early matches, is clobbering the ball as well or better than he has ever done in his brilliant and long (he's now 31) career.

I have a long list of

GCHS netters edge O'Fallon

The Granite City High School girls' tennis team began its season in excellent fashion Tuesday as they defeated a 4-3 victory over O'Fallon.

In first singles action Dina Lombardi lost to O'Fallon's Debra Dent 6-7, 6-3, 0-6.

In second singles, O'Fallon maintained its winning form as Janet McSabany defeated the Warriors' Sherri Ouseley 5-7, 4-6.

It was in the third singles match that the Warriors finally got their first win. Angela Pinkston, downed Loren Johnson in a three-set match, winning 6-7, 6-4, 6-3.

In fourth singles, Beth Suss dropped the Warriors third match to Corina Szefer 6-2, 2-6, 3-6, as the Warriors fell behind 3-1.

But, it was in the doubles competition that the Warriors made up the lost ground.

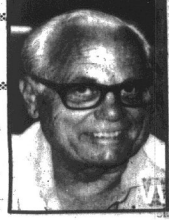

In first doubles, Dawn Schwartz and Maria Parra teamed to defeat O'Fallon's Donna Wick and Mara Lou Corbett 6-3, 7-6.

In second doubles, Granite City's Laura Smolar and Andrea Suarez sent Myet Clark and Dianne O'Brien packing with straight set losses of 6-4, 6-4.

With the score tied at three games each, the Warriors' Robyn Morlan and Linda Briner teamed to defeat O'Fallon's Amy Nichols and Kathryn Cooperider 6-1, 6-2, to win third doubles competition.

In high school golf competition, athletes compete in flights of four, each playing nine holes.

The Warriors lost both Wood River and Roxana today at Arlington Golf Course. Tee off time is 4 p.m. and under, 12-and-under, and 10-and-under tournaments. I shall always be proud of my role in helping Jimmy in his climb to world fame in tennis.

Madison kickers romp Assumption, 9-1

School records are hard enough to come by, and to accomplish such a feat in the first contest of the season, when athletes have not peaked, is twice as nice.

But that's just what the Madison Trojans soccer team did Wednesday afternoon.

The Trojans' kickers, meeting arch rival Assumption at home, blasted the Pioneers in a game, which no matter how it's described, is an understatement.

The Trojans annihilated the Pioneers 9-1.

To make matters worse, Assumption's lone goal was scored on a deflection off a Madison player.

In all, seven different Trojans scored in Wednesday's contest. Terrence Hicks was Madison's leading scorer with three goals and two assists.

As and expected, that kind performance has Coach Gene Briggs singing with praise.

"I'm happy," Briggs said holding back. "We used seven different people to score this afternoon so if anything it shows we have some people who can score."

Briggs said his team did not dazzle the Pioneers with ball skills, but rather, the Trojans outlasted the Pioneers, he said.

The Trojans managed the romp with a consistent attack, scoring two goals in each of the first three periods and finally three in the fourth period.

From the beginning, the Trojans outmanned the Pioneers. Madison attempted 19 shots on goal while Assumption managed just three.

In the saves department, Pioneer goalkeepers prevented 10 shots from piercing the goal plane while the Trojan keeper managed three.

The Pioneers managed four corner kicks while the local kickers managed three. Madison's aggressive offense took its toll as the Trojans committed nine fouls to Assumption's six.

The Trojans' next game is Monday, Sept. 12, as they host Waterloo-Gibault. Action begins at 4 p.m. against perennial power the Bulldogs. Unfortunately, Highland, which finished second last year in the prestigious Edwardsville Tour-ament, edged the local squad by two points, 156 to 160.

Assessing his team's performance, Warrior Golf Coach Russ Chappell, said he was happy with his team saying "it was the best we've ever shot at Highland."

The four who represented the Warriors Tuesday were Jeff Parra, who shot 38, Chris Carden, who posted a 40, and Frank Hayes and Randy Thurman, who each scored 51.

JAYCEES HELP NEIGHBORS. George Cook, right, director of Project Help, which assists the unemployed, accepts a $500 down payment on a $5,000 goal set by the Granite City Jaycees this year. Acting Jaycee President Larry Beyer, left, presents the check to Project Help union representatives, center, Charles Hamilton, business agent for the International Chemical Workers Local 50, and Bud York, president of Local 50.

Jaycees donate to Project Help

The Granite City Jaycees have begun a monthly $500 donation campaign that is expected to eventually result in a $5,000 gift to Project Help.

The program was initiated last spring to assist needy unemployed.

Acting Jaycee President Larry Beyer gave the first $500 check last week to Project Help Director George Cook. The presentation was made at the United Way office.

The Jaycees decided to begin the series of contributions, after representatives of the International Chemical Workers Union Local 50 attended a Jaycee meeting to seek assistance for Project Help.

"A lot of them (Jaycees) members are laid off, too," according to Bud York, president of Local 50. He was one of the two union leaders, whose members benefit from Project Help, to speak before the Jaycees.

York said one of his priorities as a Project Help sponsor is to promote the start of similar programs among unions outside the area. The program already has been cited for its work in union magazines.

Project Help was started here by local United Steel workers of America union, the International Chemical Workers Local 50 union, community and business groups. "To help the unemployed in this time of recession," Cook stated.

Project Help supplies food to the unemployed with limited resources. The supplies allow recipients to use their incomes for such expenses as utility bills, home mortgage payments and medical payments.

"It is totally funded by voluntary contributions, and all food and cash donations are used for the food distribution program," Cook stated.

"Project Help would like to express its thanks to the Granite City Jaycees for its concern and its donation," Cook stated.

Project Help is interested in contributing to the program or finding out more information about the project may call Church Women United at 877-4470.

New option for Army reserves

Prior service military veterans and members of the Army individual ready reserve who wish to affiliate with a local U.S. Army Reserve unit may now select a new training option, if they qualify.

U.S. Army Recruiting Command officials stated that this program will be available through the end of September 1984. To be eligible, individuals must have completed initial skill qualification training, but assignment in that particular skill is not available in their local area reserve unit.

In addition to meeting eligibility standards, the assignment must be to a high priority Army Reserve unit or a critical skill, both identified by the Department of the Army.

The enlistment is for a minimum period of three years, unless the training is for Intelligence Electronic Warfare Linguist, which requires a four-year term, and individuals must volunteer to accept formal, active duty military occupational skill training for the first available skill within 180 days of enlistment. The volunteers must successfully complete skill qualification training and participate in all Army Reserve unit training assemblies, including annual training. The length of formal training on active duty depends on the skill and may vary from several months to more than a year.

Recruiting command officials remarked that they expect this program to be one of the most popular Army Reserve options available to former military members. For more information on the Prior Service Training (PST) Program, interested persons may contact a local Army Reserve recruiter.

NANCE PROMOTED IN THE U.S. ARMY

Thomas D. Nance, son of Kenneth and Connie Mitchell of 1367 Norwood Drive, Granite City, Ill., has been promoted in the U.S. Army to the rank of private first class.

Nance is an administrative specialist at Fort Bragg, N.C., with the XVIII Airborne Corps. His wife, Beverly, is the daughter of Joel W. and Betty J. Tester of 4028 Vesco Ave.

He is a 1980 graduate of Granite City High School North.

HEAVILY DAMAGED. A Granite City firefighter aims a stream of water on the burning ceiling of the home of Bernard Janek, 54, of 2001 Twelfth St., last week. An electrical overload was the apparent cause of the blaze which did approximately $20,000 damage to the structure and $15,000 damage to the contents. Janek was given first aid for smoke inhalation at the scene and was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was treated and released. The fire raged about 12 hours later and firemen returned to extinguish it. (Press-Record Photo)

Retired officers honor Vadalabene

State Sen. Sam M. Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville) received a special award of recognition from the Retired State Police Officers' Association at a recent luncheon.

"The law enforcement community and our officers in particular want you to know how much we appreciate your interest in our welfare and your willingness to sponsor and support legislation for the betterment of our members," Oren "Lou" Lowder, said in commenting on the award. Lowder is legislative liaison for the group.

"Effective law enforcement is a major concern of our society," Sen. Vadalabene responded. "We have to stand firmly in support of those who put their lives on the line to protect us. I appreciate this recognition. It will inspire me to redouble my efforts to justify the confidence you have placed in me."

John 13:35... "By this shall all men know you are my disciples, that you have love one for another."

Love is the way a Christian can be identified, in any church or religious organization. Love is the garment all Christians must wear.

Love supersedes all things, including benevolence, education, and works. In this respect, all believers have equality. Without education, without an "even" break, we all begin with the same measure of God's love. And, we love because He first loved us.

If you are seeking God, and praise God many are today, then you must know what to look for. It is love.

Before you choose a building of worship for its traditions, doctrines, fun programs to capture and hold youth, or any other programs, it would be wise to look for the same thing God is looking for. Love.

May your search be well rewarded.

Peaceful Living is fall forum topic

Church Women United will host their annual fall forum on Wednesday, Sept. 14, at Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road.

"A Journey Into Peaceful Living" has been chosen as the day's topic according to Marian Pierson, chairman. The day will begin with registration at 9:30 a.m. and close at 2 p.m. with a noon break for a brown bag lunch. A $3 registration fee will include a packet of resource material for each participant.

The guest speaker for the day will be Sister Mary Jo Heman, OP, a staff member of the Institute for Peace and Justice, 4144 Lindell Blvd., St. Louis. Working from the concept that the peacemaking journey must start within individuals, the forum will sidestep areas of peacemaking outside our control and explore ways of making peace within ourselves, where we do have control, Mrs. Pierson explained.

Goals for the day include: gaining an awareness of a lack of peace within ourselves, our families, our workplace and community; specific ways of developing and increasing inner peace; discovering the scriptural emphasis on Shalom; and taking steps to reach out with peacemaking skills.

Sister Heman will utilize small group discussion of her initial presentation, question answer sessions and direct viewing of several short films. She will also share the work she has undertaken in working with the Institute for Peace and Justice, which has been active for the last 13 years as a valuable area resource for peace education. Everyone in the community is welcome to attend, according to the chairman.

By DONNA KIMBRO
of the Press-Record

Four new additional Gallery Rooms at Lombardi's Furniture & Interiors are completed and decorated to convey the concept of individual rooms complete with furniture and accessories offering the visitor and customer an instant visual view of color combinations and furniture style.

So often a person has the desire to change something in a room or completely redecorate and cannot imagine what their ideas will look like when finished. To visit a set up gallery room erases some of the time-consuming doubts as to what shade of paint, wall coverings, drapes and accessories to coordinate with a family's best-loved furniture.

Lombardi's expansive service as a total one-stop decorating center which provides the homeowner, apartment dweller or newlywed couple with ideas to furnish a home with tastefully selected furniture and accessories within a budget.

Experienced and especially-trained decorators are available during store hours to assist with selections and furnish a product or, perhaps a curio, designed to satisfy.

Custom-made draperies may be ordered from a full selection of fabrics, and lamps by Stille, Fredrick

Cooper, Westwood and many other manufacturers are on display, as well as original oil paintings and classic prints framed in a variety of woods or metal to add the finished touch to any style or period furniture.

Furniture created by well-known manufacturers such as Kling, Hickory Manufacturing, Davis Cabinet, Trend Clock, Clayton Marcus and Stratford are exhibited in the bedroom, living room, dining room and den Gallery Rooms, both in the newer section of the store and the balcony department.

Floor coverings are of the utmost importance when decorating a room and with this in mind Lombardi's has kept a carpet department that includes numerous colors and shades of carpet, as well as vinyl and hardwood flooring featuring Lees, Armstrong, Cabin Craft, Congoleum and Bruce Hardwood. Many types of paint supplies for both the exterior and interior of the house are available. If one needs only a fresh coat of paint to revive a room, there are racks of color charts available for a mixed blend in any type of paint.

Bob and Cathy Lombardi extend an invitation to area residents to visit the store and browse through the newly-decorated gallery rooms during the grand opening, beginning today.

Wolf chairs pension, laws top committee

State Rep. Sam Wolf (D-Granite City) has been elected to the Executive Committee of the Illinois Pension Laws Commission, of which he has been a member since January of this year. The election took place during the reorganizational meeting of the commission.

Wolf will serve on the Executive Committee of the commission, along with six other members, Rep. Robert Perich of Chicago, chairman; Sen. Calvin Schuneman of Prokeston, vice chairman; Sen. John Maitland of Bloomington, secretary; Sidney Peristalt of Chicago, public member; John Lindquist of Deerfield, public member; and Harry Allenbrand of Westchester, public member of Westchester.

"After election of officers and the Executive Committee," Wolf said, "the commission then proceeded to the formation of the working committees and the discussion of personnel that will be charged with the task of research and composition of changes to the various pension systems that will be submitted to the organization at its subsequent meetings. The commission as a whole reviews all recommended changes to the systems and, together with statistical data furnished by the Actuary, Sander Goldstein, determines whether or not such proposed changes will be recommended for approval and support of the commission or whether they will be opposed."

"The commission also took under advisement," Wolf continued, "a recent Supreme Court ruling which determined that an employer (Arizona) violated Title VII of the Civil Rights Act by providing an annuity option in a retirement plan that paid smaller monthly benefits to women than men. On the basis of that ruling, pension plans will no longer be able to use sex-based actuarial tables in determining pension payments."

Rep. Wolf also indicated that the commission rounded off its four-hour-long meeting by discussing the State Mandates Act, discussing policy decisions of the organization, and reviewing a summary of all legislation relating to pension systems that had been passed by the General Assembly and now awaiting action by the governor. The meeting was then adjourned until October.

Power Squadron offers course

The United States Power Squadron (USPS) Boating course for sail and power boating will be offered free to the public again this fall. The first class session and registration will be at 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 19 in the auditorium of the public library on Lindbergh Boulevard, south of the Clayton Road intersection.

The class will meet on 12 consecutive Monday evenings. There are 10 sessions of instruction, one review session and a final exam. All who pass the exam are awarded a certificate. There are homework assignments covering each lesson so the student can monitor his progress in learning the material.

The instruction includes the topics of boat handling under normal conditions, handling under adverse conditions, seamanship and common emergencies, rules of the road, compass and charts, aids to navigation, the elements of piloting (navigation), inland boating and boat trailering. The instructors are volunteers and are members of the St. Louis

Power Squadron with special training and experience in the subjects they teach.

The instruction itself is free, but there is a charge for the course booklet, about $6. One booklet will suffice for a family.

Some insurance companies offer a discount on yacht insurance premiums to owners who have successfully completed the USPS course. Illinois Safe Boating Licenses also may be issued by those who successfully complete the course.

All persons interested in sail or power boating are being invited to attend the course. This includes young people in their teens, who should be especially interested because of the opportunity to meet the Illinois license requirements.

ing and navigation of pleasure boats. The USPS conducts comprehensive courses in navigation, seamanship and other aspects of yachting for its members.

A member who has completed all of the courses should have the knowledge to safely cruise the oceans of the world. The USPS is a private organization not connected with any governmental body and was founded almost 75 years ago.

The St. Louis Power Squadron, a part of USPS, has about 130 members and is the largest and most active squadron in its district. Its primary civic service activity is its boating course. The boating course is an excellent basic course for sail and power boat people, or those who might be interested in boating.

Fall registration at SIUE starts Sept. 20

Registration for fall quarter at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville begins Sept. 20.

Priority registration, or registration for continuing students, is scheduled Sept. 20 and 21 from 9 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Undergraduates who have been enrolled in classes on campus within the past 12 months will register during priority registration according to an alphabetical rotating system for each class. To learn the day and hour when they are scheduled to register, continuing students should consult the fall quarter schedule of classes.

Graduate students, whether continuing, new or re-entering, may register any time during the registration period.

Open registration is scheduled Sept. 22, 23 and 24. The schedule will be: Sept. 22, from 9 a.m. until 7 p.m.; Sept. 23, from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m.; and Sept. 24, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. Fall quarter classes begin Saturday, Sept. 24.

All registration activities will be in Meridian Ballroom in the University Center. Mandatory advisement for all students attending the university will be required before they register for classes. To register, students must submit a course request (CRF) that has been signed by the adviser indicating what courses will be pursued during the quarter. These forms are available only from the student's adviser.

To see an adviser, undergraduate students who have declared majors should contact their academic units. Those who have not yet declared a major should contact their assigned advisers and people not seeking academic degrees should contact the Office of Academic Services.

Graduate students should contact their academic units if they have been admitted into a graduate program. If their status is either "classification pending" or "unclassified," they should contact the Graduate Admissions and Records Office at 1-892-3169 (located in Rensselaer 2215) for directions.

Additional information concerning admission policies, class schedules, or registration activities may be contacted by the SIUE Office of Admissions and Records.

ALL THE SHIELD YOU'LL EVER NEED.

"We call our health insurance, Shelter Comprehensive Health Insurance, a shield for all the good reasons. For example, we pay maximum benefits up to $1,000,000 to keep pace with today's rising medical costs. That includes doctor visits, prescriptions, unlimited expenses for a semi-private hospital room, and any surgical expenses and treatment of disease or injury. Now that's what we call coverage."

Volunteers help Alpha Center operate

Connie (Conieth) McGee is one United Way volunteer who somehow finds the time to assist other people. Connie is married to Marvin McGee, and besides taking care of household duties and teaching school, devotes countless hours to assist at the Alpha Center for Women, Inc.

Alpha Center, 2104 Cleveland Ave., is the newest Tri-Cities Area United Way Agency. It was established in 1980 to meet the growing needs of pregnant women in our community for emergency and long-term housing.

Alpha Center's programs are designed to meet the physiological, social and educational needs of its residents. Clients are accepted regardless of race, religion, age, ability to pay, future plans for the infant or stage of the pregnancy.

Mrs. McGee has taught for the past 25 years at Emerson School and this year is assigned as the Learning Center teacher at Maryville School. She is active on the Alpha Center's education committee and, along with the assistance of many other volunteers, advises the clients as to their educational plans. Some receive GED tutoring, some attend high school or junior college, while others pursue a technical vocation. This summer, the center conducted a series of workshops on special topics such as alcoholism, drug addiction, child care and adoption. Experts from St. Elizabeth Medical Center and other local agencies participated in these workshops.

Helen Lorden is another volunteer who also brings a special personal relationship to Alpha Center. She and her husband, Jim Lorden, have three children, Ed and Kathy, students at Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville, and Krista, a senior at Granite City High School. "I stay with the Alpha Center residents, while the housemother can't be here and also take the girls to appointments and shopping and watch the office. I like to help out whenever I can," added Mrs. Lorden.

"They are two of hundreds of volunteers who serve Tri-Cities Area United Way agencies in very special ways. All of the volunteers are eager to assist in any way possible and are a key to the cost effectiveness of the United Way. Thanks to them and to you, the United Way works," a UW spokesman said.

ALPHA CENTER volunteers who devote many hours to helping young women in need include Connie McGee, left, and Helen Lorden.

Cosmetology classes revamped by schools

A revised format for cosmetology instruction was approved Tuesday night by the Granite City Board of Education.

Weekday classes will last four hours a day for both juniors and seniors, compared to three hours for juniors and three and a half hours for seniors previously.

All the cosmetology students will continue to attend for eight hours every other Saturday. Instead of four semesters and a nine-week summer school, students will attend for their final three semesters and a ten-week summer school.

No instruction is scheduled for this fall. High school juniors will attend next spring, complete the summer cosmetology instruction and then attend for their entire senior year in 1984-85. Classes will continue to total 1,500 hours. Tuition is rising from $1,400 to $1,510 and the students will pay $125 instead of $75 for their kits.

Details of the new agreement with the Granite City School of Beauty Culture were outlined by Thomas Holloway, School District Nine director of vocational and career education.

APA views slides of Africa

A slide presentation by Dennis Bozay on the history of the APA and an African safari highlighted the second annual meeting of the Association for the Protection of Animals of Granite City recently at Charlie's Restaurant.

Mrs. JoAnn Hommert and Mrs. Carolyn Willoughby, co-presidents of the organization, led the meeting, where members discussed the progress of the animal shelter located on Old Alton Road and fund-raising projects scheduled to complete the shelter, which is scheduled to open this fall. Members of the APA board include Robert Abel, Richard Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Edwards, Norman

Illinois Amish country — a visit into the past

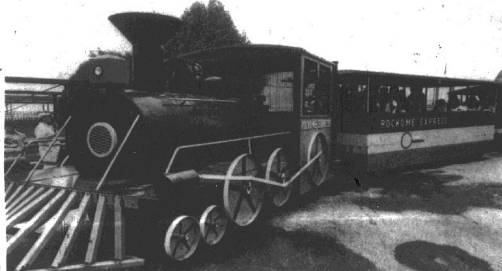

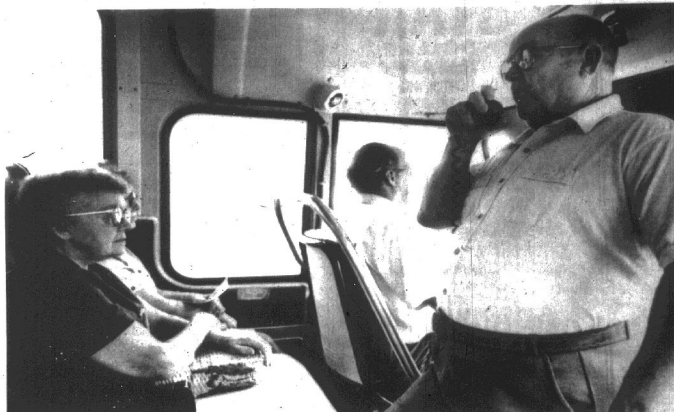

CUSTOM & RETAIL
DAS SCHLACHT HAUS
PORK & BEEF

On a recent Granite City Park District-sponsored excursion, about 90 people took a trip into the past as their buses entered the Illinois Amish country near Arzoo. About 3,000 Amish live in the area between Mattoon and Charleston in Eastern Illinois.

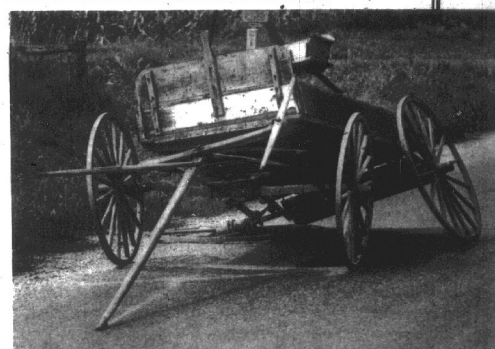

The Amish is a Protestant sect which has strict doctrines that totally governs the way of life. They came to Illinois more than 100 years ago from Pennsylvania in search of new land to farm. Amish life is extremely simple with their homes and clothing very drab and unappealing to our way of life.

One of the most obvious things we take for granted, but that Amish people do not believe in is electricity. They do use gasoline-powered engines, but only to run compressors which power all of the tools they use: saws, drills, farm equipment, butchering tools and others. All farming is still done with horse-drawn implements.

Clockwise from top left — A horse-drawn buggy, handmade by the Amish, passes the bus on the tour of the county side; the sign on an Amish slaughter house, in German, the language of the Amish religion and the language first learned by Amish children. The Amish do speak English during their day-to-day living; Warren Arthur, the tour guide on the first of two park district buses, explains the Amish way of life and answers questions from the group; a common Amish farm with a windmill for pumping water from a well and a tall, white building nearby in which a holding tank is placed to create water pressure for the farm; a broken-down wagon on the side of the road; the group settles back in their seats for the long ride back home; an Amish family waits to enter one of the attractions at Rockome Gardens during its 25th anniversary celebration; many of the park district group took a short train ride on the Rockome Express.

Preface

This is it! The much discussed Granite City Press-Record Fall Sports Preview. On the following pages are, what we believe, to be the most complete, comprehensive collection of high school prep sports reporting in the area.

Unlike many Fall Sports Preview which include only football and soccer, the Press-Record Fall Sports Preview reports on all the sports — cross-country, golf, volleyball and girls' tennis in addition to soccer and football. After all, those people work at their respective sports just as hard as the football and soccer athletes do.

Hence, it is our intent to provide you, our readers, with more than the traditional fall sports reporting.

Preparation of the tabloid supplement began in mid-summer when assignments were discussed and lay-outs were designed. While much of the city slumbered, the sports staff stayed at work burning the proverbial midnight oil. We believe the effort was well worth the end result.

We hope you will keep the supplement and refer to it as a guide for scheduled games and player information.

This is the second such Fall Sports Preview in which all the Granite City, Madison and Venice High School sports teams have been covered. Since last year's, area sports teams have changed dramatically.

There are no longer four high schools in the Quad-City area. There are but four now. Granite City North is no longer.

In its place, a junior college has evolved. And for that reason, we've included the Granite City Center's soccer and volleyball teams in the preview.

But, a new college is not all that's new.

Granite City has a new high school as well — Granite City High School.

And every indication is from the previews within this publication that the teams look strong. Save the preview, it'll be interesting to see how accurate the predictions were after the seasons have concluded.

It's for those two new entries — the GCC and GCHS — that we've chosen red, black, blue and silver as the colors for the front of the preview.

The red and black is for Granite City High School, while blue and silver are the Granite City Center, Granite City's fledgling junior college.

Also, because of the added obvious interest in Southern Illinois University men's and women's soccer teams, we've included a preview of both of those teams as well.

The following members of the Press-Record sports staff have reported and photographed the contents of this supplement:

Roger Kramer: reporter and photographer. Kramer has been with the sports staff for two years and eagerly pursues each assignment with camera in hand. A graduate of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Kramer is an experienced, concise sports reporter as well as a fine photographer. He often writes a story as fiercely as those athletes who he's writing about have competed.

Mike Bartels: Those of you who see Mike will remember him. At 6-foot-9 inches tall, Mike is a sports reporter by destiny. A former SIUE basketball player and sports editor of campus newspaper, Bartels admits he prefers to cover basketball, but he's adept in reporting all sports.

Steve Whitworth: SIUE student and sports enthusiast. Steve has been reporting sports for the Press-Record since March. Whitworth's love for sports is surpassed only by his desire to excel in journalism.

Belinda Conley: Granite City High School North graduate and presidential scholar at SIUE, Belinda has been with the Press-Record for four months, but already she's made her mark on the sports staff and looks to be a blooming talent.

Paula Wise: Is the latest addition to the P-R sports staff. Most people may remember Paula as coach of the last Steelerette volleyball team. Paula led that team to its first and only regional championship in North's 10 year history.

Red Devils

Devil spikers hope to serve a winning season

With the departure of Coach Ken Perkins, the Venice volleyball team has fallen apart and despite all her hard work, new coach Annetta Ohlendorf is having trouble putting it back together.

With their first game less than two weeks away, and only three practices under their belt, Coach Ohlendorf is not optimistic about the upcoming season.

"It doesn't make a lot of sense to throw a team in my lap two weeks before their first game and expect them to be any good. I've never even coached a sport before."

Luckily the Red Devils have a lot of experience. The starting six, seniors Letitia Miller, Jackie Chatman; juniors Rosie Harmon, Cassandra White, Kim Bell; and sophomore Tina White are all returning lettermen.

Not starters, but who are expected to see considerable action during the course of the season are juniors Teresa Petty and seniors Tempest Williams and Martins.

Venice
Red Devils

As Coach Ohlendorf sees it, Venice's major problem is too little practice.

"We need a lot of work on the basics, and we have very little time to practice."

Despite all of Venice's troubles, they have one big asset. Enthusiasm.

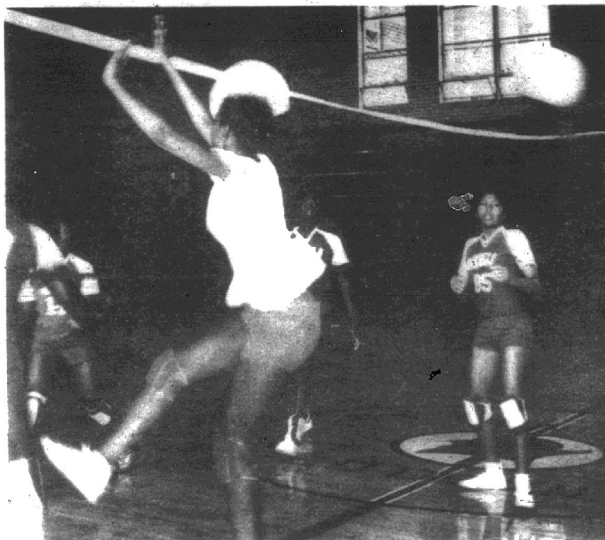

"The girls are very enthusiastic. They really enjoy the game."

Venice's first game will be against Assumption at Venice at 4:30 p.m. on Sept. 12.

As she struggles to pull her team together before the season opens, Ohlendorf describes her team with only two words. "We're struggling."

"We need a lot of work on the basics, and we have very little time to practice. Although, the girls are very enthusiastic. They really enjoy the game."

Annetta Ohlendorf
Venice volleyball coach

WORKING THE NET. Members of the Venice volleyball team worked net drills recently during a practice. The Venice team was handicapped by a late start, but enthusiasm is high.

Grid independents tough

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

It's tough enough to make the Illinois High School Association football playoffs when your football team is in a conference.

It's even tougher when your team is an independent. Both Granite City High School's and Madison High School's football teams are going to find out how difficult it is this year.

The consolidation of Granite City's two high schools caused the Gateway East Conference to shrink to four schools and made the conference an unofficial conference in the eyes of the IHSA. Thus, Granite City could conceivably win the GEC and still not make the playoffs.

Meanwhile, both Madison and East St. Louis Assumption were kicked out of the Quad County Conference last spring. While the remaining teams plus Waterloo, a first-year football school, created the Cahokia Conference, both Madison and Assumption schools are still independents.

Since both Press-Record area football teams and the other three GEC teams, Belleville Althoff, Edwardsville, and Cahokia, are independents, we're going to review the method in which independents qualify for the playoffs.

First of all, independents and conference runners-up have to have at least a .800 record to qualify for the playoffs. Since Granite City and Madison both play only eight games, both teams have to have 7-1 or 8-0 records to be considered.

Using that qualification alone, all four GEC schools could be knocked out of the playoffs this year. In the last two seasons, the GEC champions, Granite City North and Althoff, did not have .800 records.

Because of Granite City's and Madison's independent status, they would have a better chance of making the playoffs than a conference runner-up.

Since there are 78 football conferences in Illinois and 96 playoff berths, 16 in each of the six classes, there are only 18 spots left for the independents and the wild card teams. There is a system to determine the top 16 teams if more than that number play .800 ball.

The first system is figuring regular points by winning or losing to teams better than .500, at .500 and below .500. If there is still a tie, then points are awarded by classes that school was in during the 1982 football season.

For example, if Granite City and Althoff had 7-1 records and had the same number of points in the first system, Althoff would more than likely beat out Granite City for a berth simply because of size.

Most of the schools on Althoff's schedule are larger than it while the team's on Granite City's schedule are either in the same class or smaller. Since extra points are given to defeating larger schools, Althoff could gain more points than Granite City in that system.

If the teams are still tied after that rating, then the regular and the class points are added together and divided by the games played for a per-game rating. If that is the same, then IHSA would either flip a coin or roll peas to decide the qualifiers for the playoffs.

Fortunately for Granite City, this is probably the only year it will be an independent. Next year, the Warriors will be members of the Southwestern Conference and can qualify by winning that conference. Either way, the Warriors would be Class 6A, the highest class.

Even if Granite City doesn't qualify this year, it can maintain some pride by winning the GEC for the last time.

Madison's prospects don't look as well. It appears the Trojans will have work on upgrading their program to make the playoffs. Last year, the Trojans were 0-8 overall.

Cougars

SIUE looks to returning lettermen for strength

Anytime a coach returns his top six scorers, his entire forward line, two out of three starting midfielders, and three of four starting backs from a team that posted a 15-4-1 record and reached the semifinals of the NCAA Division I National Championships, he has reason to be optimistic. But for the 1983 Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, the optimism may be cautious.

For Head Coach Bob Guelker, the early pre-season optimism suffered several setbacks when last year's starting midfielder, and this year's senior captain, Leo Bourneuf, suffered an injury and will be forced to sit out the 1983 campaign. Things didn't get any better when Guelker learned that one of his top freshmen recruits failed to meet NCAA requirements and will also be forced to pass up the 1983 season. According to Guelker, "What was a team with not only outstanding field talent but also tremendous bench strength has all of a sudden become a team where several of our top reserves and freshmen are going to be forced to become starters."

If the Cougars are going to make a strong bid at their 15th consecutive NCAA post-season tournament appearance they are going to have to rely on such outstanding veteran players as leading scorers Dan O'Keefe, Steve Gauvain, Bill Stallings, Bruce Bellinger, Dan Malloy and Mike Gauvain, as well as backs Chris Hundelt, Greg Fleher and Matt Tracy to go along with returning starter Tim Loughman.

But what may become the mark of the 1983 squad could be the return to top form of forward Steve Schell and the addition of prep All-Americans Steve Trittschuh, Don Henry, Mike England and John Gates.

To Guelker, who is entering his 25th year as a collegiate head coach, the key ingredient for this year's team may be rounding out the squad with a freshman back and a relatively untested goalkeeper.

According to Guelker, "freshmen could be a big factor in determining the amount of success we have this year. Not only are we going to have at least one freshman in our starting line-up but we are going to depend on the newcomers to serve as our top back-ups at several key positions."

When talking about the Cougars' backfield for 1983, there is only one thing for sure—Chris Hundelt will be in the starting line-up. After that, however, the battle for the remaining three positions has become a dog-fight between returning starters Greg Fleher and Matt Tracy and 1982 prep All-Americans Steve Trittschuh, Don Henry and a late addition to the 1983 roster, John Gates.

Hundelt, a former National Youth Team player and stabilizing force on a Cougar defense which gave up just 14 goals in 20 games last season, is expected to step in as the starting sweeper-back. Fleher, who will serve along with Steve Gauvain as the 1983 Cougar co-captains, started 17 games last year and Tracy, who cracked the starting line-up towards the end of the 1982 campaign, appear to have the inside track at a starting berth.

Trittschuh, a product of Granite City North High School, and Henry, who gained All-American honors at St. Louis University High, will receive a strong challenge from CBC High School standout John Gates not only for the remaining starting spot but also as the top reserve off the bench.

Forwards

In what figures to be the strongest line in the Cougars' arsenal, the 1983 squad returns all three starters and two top reserves. Combining starters Don O'Keefe, Bill Stallings and Dan Malloy with reserves Bruce Bellinger and Steve Schell, the Cougars' front line accounted for 32 goals and 11 assists last season.

Midfielders

The anchor of the Cougars' midfield attack, Co-captain Steve Gauvain, returns for his senior season along with returning starter Tim Loughman. Gauvain, who finished second on the team last year with five goals and eight assists, gives the Cougars what Coach Guelker says SIUE needs most—more scoring out of the midfield. Loughman, a junior from Aquinas High School, started all 20 games for the Cougars last year and is expected to better his one goal and three assists totals from 1982.

Goalkeepers

According to Coach Guelker, "Dave Cappetta is our starting goalkeeper until someone comes along and takes that job away from him." Cappetta, a junior from Hazelwood Central, has seen limited action with the Cougars over the past two years but appears ready to step in and take over in the nets. In five games last year, Cappetta made seven saves while allowing just one goal. He also contributed to four of the Cougars' nine shutouts in 1982.

Cougars

Granite City is link to SIUE women's soccer team

August is a time when many teams dream of national championships and hopes run wild during pre-season drills. But Head Coach Lori Stark and the women's soccer team at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville think too, it's a time for cautious optimism.

According to the second-year mentor, "I really believe we're much stronger this year than we were a year ago, but so is our schedule. Last year was our first season as an intercollegiate sport and we went through a learning experience. This year we have upgraded the schedule to give us a strong test against both regional and national competition."

Granite City has a big stake in SIUE's women's soccer team this year. In all, eight of the 15 team members are from Granite City.

Besides the tough schedule, the 1983 version of the Cougars are going to have to blend several untested newcomers with the experience of their top three scorers from a year ago.

"I feel like we will have one of the strongest front lines in our region this year," says Stark. "And although our midfielders are new, I believe they will also be one of the strengths to this year's team. Unfortunately, we still have several questions to answer about the backfield and in the nets."

Up front, the Cougars return such outstanding scorers as Helen Robinson, Deanna Epps and Karen Whited.

Newcomers Susan Bell, Susan Balota, Patricia Atkinson and Peggy Kochner appear to be the anchors of the midfield, while returning letter-winners Donna Brinkmeyer and Leigh Basarich will be the cornerstones of the defense. Guarding the nets has brought about special interest recently and returning standout Lisa Sarich suffered a separated shoulder and will be sidelined for the first six weeks of the season. Once again, it appears as if the Cougars will put a freshman on the line as newcomer Theresa Soellner will guard the goal cages as the 1983 season gets underway.

Forwards

For what is expected to be the strongest line on the 1983 team, the Cougars return the top three scorers from a year ago, Helen Robinson, Deanna Epps and Karen White. During the 1982 campaign, the high-scoring trio accounted for 25 goals and 10 assists. Robinson, who led the squad with 11 goals last year, had three game-winning tallies.

Epps, a junior from Granite City, cracked the Cougars' starting line-up three games into the season and went on to collect seven goals and a team-high four assists. Whited, who started 15 of the Cougars' 16 games in 1982, finished second on the team last year with 40 shots on goal and also collected seven goals with three assists.

Mary Bisch, a freshman from Granite City South High School, is expected to give the Cougars all the depth they will need on the front line. Described as having outstanding speed, Bisch is also expected to compete with the Cougars' track and field team later this year.

Midfielders

The old sports saying, "you can't tell the players without a scorecard" is especially true for the Cougars' list of candidates vying for the starting berths at midfield. No less than four newcomers head the list as the 1983 pre-season drills got underway.

Susan Bell, a native of Granite City, and Susan Balota, a product of St. Louis Lindbergh High School, appear to be the leading candidates for two of the starting three berths. Bell is regarded as a good ball-handler who is not shy about pushing the ball upfield and attempting to score.

She also received some valuable experience this summer after being selected to a regional squad which traveled to Washington D.C. to participate in a national tournament. Balota will be taking her aggressive style and outstanding individual skills from forward to midfield this year.

The battle for the remaining starting berth may not be resolved until well into the season as Patricia Atkinson of Granite City and Peggy Kochner are both expected to see a lot of playing time in 1983. Atkinson, the quickest of the list of midfielders, must overcome a lack of experience while Kochner may emerge as one of the best play-makers on the roster.

Backs

One of the biggest questions facing Coach Stark as the 1983 pre-season got underway was rounding out the starting backfield. Experienced standouts Donna Brinkmeyer and Leigh Basarich were leading candidates for two of the starting positions but the other two spots could boil down to moving players around. Sue Buenger, who played both midfield and forward for SIUE last year, has also been listed as a leading candidate for a starting berth in the backfield.

Brinkmeyer and Basarich, two of just five players on the 1982 roster to start each game, give the Cougars some much-needed experience in the back-field.

Goalkeepers

Without a doubt, the biggest question on the 1983 season will be how newcomer Theresa Soellner of Granite City handles the goalkeeping duties. Thrown into the starting spot when returning keeper Lisa Sarich suffered a separated shoulder, Soellner has very limited experience although she was recently selected to the Illinois Select Team and has shown outstanding potential.

Sarich, a product of Granite City South High School, started 10 games in the nets for the Cougars last year and allowed 29 goals while recording three shutouts. An outstanding all-around athlete, Sarich also competed on the 1983 Cougar softball team.

Warriors

Warrior kickers look to 'Get It Together' in '83

On the Granite City High School soccer team's pocket schedules it reads: Granite City High School Soccer's "Got It Together."

The slogan on the schedule, although descriptive of the manner in which Granite City High School soccer teams have played in the past, reflects the feelings of unity by the coaches and the players on the Warrior soccer team for 1983.

The schedules are printed on white over last year's Granite City South Warrior jersey on the left and the Granite City North jersey on the right.

The fierce rivalry between Granite City North and South lasted a decade. But, now it's over. Now, there's only Granite City High School.

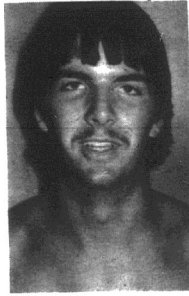

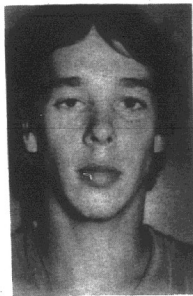

No South. No North. Just Granite City. Combining the high schools was the board's idea, but the slogan was Granite City High School Coach Gene Baker's.

The North-South rivalry was known to many people, but few persons felt the rivalry quite like Baker.

Formerly Granite City South Soccer coach with six state championships to his credit, Baker knows the importance of a united team for victory.

Gene Baker
Warrior soccer coach

Team captains Matt Sheridan, Nathan Crane and Jeb Blasingame.

It's for that reason — to unify the team — that Baker chose the slogan and the descriptive logo for the season.

But, even before the schedules were printed and released, the player response was phenomenal. More than 100 athletes reported to the first day of practice on Aug. 17. There were former Warriors and Steelers and unaligned newcomers. All of which sought to represent Granite City High on the soccer field.

Among them, three in particular, are Matt Sheridan, Nathan Crane and Jeb Blasingame. Baker has chosen the three to represent the team as captains.

Sheridan, a halfback last year, will again lead the Warrior defense and, as he did in the opener against Edwardsville, penetrate the opposition's defense whenever possible to score.

Nathan Crane will unquestionably be the Warrior's biggest scoring threat. As in-Blasingame registered 21 shutouts for Granite City South.

Unfortunately, because of a new ruling which takes effect this year, the 1983 Warrior squad will never equal or surpass that 29-2 plateau.

After the Granite City South's whirlwind season last year, the Illinois State High School Association set a limit on the number of games soccer teams could play during the course of the season. That limit is 16 games and one tournament during the course of the season.

That 16-1 status immensely decreases Granite City's preparatory season to the state tournament, Baker said.

"I've said before we're a tournament team. Last year's schedule was carefully designed to prepare us for the state tournament. It did that. We're going to have to intensify our training during each and every game prior to the state tournament," Baker said.

In addition to Granite City's 16 regular season games, the Warriors will once again host 11 teams in the "Tournament of Champions." The tournament will be played Oct. 5-8 at the Gauntlet.

In addition to the Warriors, the Missouri and Indiana state champions will compete in the three-day tourney. The tournament, which is sponsored by Pepsi-Cola Bottling of Alton, is rapidly becoming the premier high school soccer tournament in the country.

It is precisely that type of premier competition which Baker hopes will prepare his team for the state tournament which begins Nov. 4.

Baker's success can be directly related to his pragmatic view of each team in each new season, despite past successes.

"We take the same pragmatic approach to each season — we haven't won it until we've won it. We don't want to count our chickens before they've hatched," Baker said.

Despite that pragmatic approach, Baker is confident about one thing early in the season: He's been blessed with good athletic size among his team.

Baker noted Blasingame and Same Tate, who played for Granite City North last year, at 6-feet-2 inches, Crane, junior Mike Houston, and senior Paul Macios.

Of those big men, it was Tate, who seemed to be enjoying himself most at practice last week.

Tate, a 16-year-old senior who played for Granite City's North's squad last season, seemed at home at practice.

"I gotta admit, last year I really didn't care for Coach Baker. You know, the North-South rivalry. But I gotta admit, he's pretty fair. He's giving everyone a chance to play."

Tate concurred with Baker's comments

Late start sets back GCC coach, volleyball squad

Clabbie Briggs, coach of the Granite City Stars volleyball team, is confident her team will make a good showing this season.

Coach Briggs feels that the natural talent of the girls will allow her to have a strong starting line-up.

"I feel that the girls can compete at the junior college level because they have good basic skills," Coach Briggs said.

"With the local talent at the high school level, we are trying to develop a junior college program so that these girls will have the opportunity to further their sports careers," Briggs said.

Another advantage that will benefit the Stars is the fact that several of the girls have played together at the high school level. Coach Briggs also feels the girls work extremely well together.

Briggs anticipates good blocking from her front line, so her team will be playing the center back defense.

The Stars will be playing a five-one offense this season. This offense requires one setter and five hitters. The reason for this formation Coach Briggs states is to utilize their one strong setter as much as possible.

Briggs feels her main weakness will be the delay in getting the season started. Because of her late appointment as coach, Briggs feels the girls have had very little time to work with her and learn what she expects.

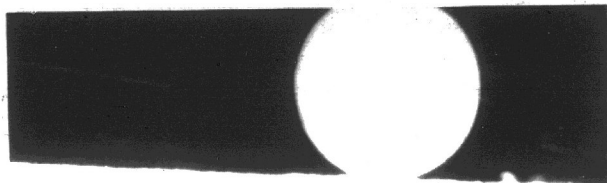

Lack of experience at the junior college level may also present a problem. Since this is the first year for the college there will be no returning lettermen.

The Stars are currently practicing weekdays from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. They will also be running open tryouts for the remainder of the week. Any woman who is currently attending Granite City Center and is interested in volleyball is asked to attend.

The Stars will begin their season Monday Sept. 13. They will be playing a 15-game schedule including games with Lewis and Clark Community College, Forest Park Community College, Florissant Valley, Kaskaskia Junior College, and Lincoln Land.

Coach Briggs feels that Belleville Area College will probably be the team to beat this season.

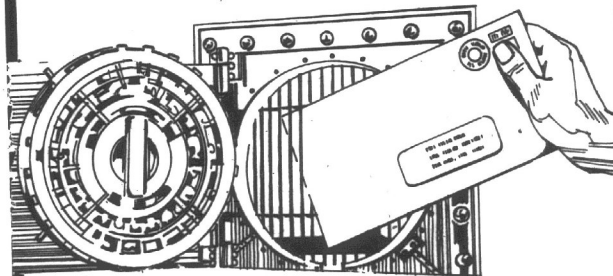

STARTING A NEW PROGRAM. Ruth Jacks, a 1982 graduate of Madison High School, will be one of the prospects to play for the Granite City Center volleyball team this fall. The first-year school hopes to build a competitive program in the years to come.

Harmon hopes to turn enthusiasm into victories

It's going to be a whole new ballgame for Coach Dick Harmon and his Granite City High girls' tennis team.

Harmon, who has 28 years of experience coaching boys' tennis, will be coaching the girls for the first time this season. He says he's looking forward to the job.

"What I really like about this bunch of girls is their enthusiasm," he says. "Their attitudes help me a lot."

The Warriors are led by returning letter-winners from both the old South and North squads. Unfortunately, South was 0-13 last year and North was just 4-13.

"When you've been 0-13 before, the first thing you have to learn is how to win," Harmon says. "I have to show enthusiasm and be positive in order to help them do that."

According to Harmon, senior Dina Lombardi will lead the squad by playing in the number one single's slot. Number two in single's will be junior Sherri Ousley. Junior Angela Pinkston will fill the number three slot in single's and junior Beth Sues will round out the single's squad as the number four player.

A pair of juniors, Dawn Schwartz and Maria Parra, will make up the first double's team. Tentatively, senior Laura Smoler and sophomore Andrea Suarez are scheduled to play as the second double's team. The third double's team will likely consist of junior Robin Moreland and sophomore Linda Briner.

According to Harmon, all the players scheduled to start the first match of the season lettered at their respective schools last year.

Harmon adds, "I have a few more sophomores and juniors who could be coming along with a little work."

The coach says he is pleased at the effort the girls have been giving him, and he is satisfied with their workouts.

Having coached the boys for so long, Harmon says he doesn't see much difference in coaching girls. "They work about alike," he says. "The girls are knowledgeable about the rules and techniques. They just haven't been working on them as long as the boys have. The biggest thing the girls have to work on is moving on the court."

Harmon says his team is at a disadvantage to many schools in the area, because many area schools have indoor facilities nearby. He admits, "I haven't seen the other teams play, so it's hard to evaluate our chances against theirs."

TENNIS HOPEFUL. Dina Lombardi is currently the number one girls' tennis player at Granite City High School. She is being challenged by Sherrie Ousley, Angela Pinkston and Beth Sues.

about the size of this year's Granite City soccer team.

"I know we're a lot bigger than North was last year, and I think we're bigger than South was last year."

One other comment Tate made about this year's team was that players seemed to communicate more this year than they did last year.

Team communication, Baker believes, is often as important as soccer skills themselves. During a practice, or even a game, he's often seen pacing the sidelines insisting that his players communicate to properly execute plays on both offense and defense.

Baker, an English teacher, is the team communicator. But, too, communication is where Baker's assistants Mel Bunting and Dave Ames are most prevalent.

Bunting, Baker's assistant and goalie coach, constantly monitors the team. Often when Baker is overwhelmed with the physical aspect of the team, it's Bunting, who may be off and away from the situation at hand, who can offer solutions.

And as for Ames, as jayvee coach, he's Baker's eyes and ears on the jayvee squad. Each of the coaches monitors the athletes progress, but it was Baker who offered team assessment last week.

In addition to those athletes already mentioned Baker offered the following assessment:

Scott Grote: An athlete who saw considerable action in 1982 who figures to be an integral part of the 1983 squad.

Brent Cook: A quick athlete who is also expected to figure prominently in the 1983 picture.

Mike Sikora and Steve Petrunick: Two talented athletes who "look to contribute" to the 1983 squad.

Troy Moore: A player who is expected to be "in the limelight."

The Warriors travel to St. Louis County on Monday, Sept. 12 to take on Hazelwood East. Action begins at 4 p.m.

Warriors

'Big' Warrior gridders debut Friday in Roxana

Big. That's the key word for the Granite City High School football program in 1983.

Of course the consolidation of Granite City's two high schools has made the turnout for football bigger than usual. On opening day, 162 football players came out for practice. Even though some players have quit, Warrior coach Tom Wyrostek still has big numbers of people to work with.

Something else that's big in Granite City is the players' size. The Warriors have before Friday's opener at Roxana, and they are on the way towards making that decision.

For instance, junior Shane Cole appears to have the edge over senior Henry Brown as the quarterback for the Warriors.

Last season, Cole (5-11, 155) was the starting quarterback at North, while Brown (5-10, 160) was John Linhart's back-up at South. Cole's is familiar with the system Wyrostek will use this season and has a season of experience under his belt.

Senior fullback Sean Wyrostek (5-8, 185)

"We think we have a lot to do yet. We're still having problems learning my nomenclature and my style. Right now, my main concern is getting together a respectable team."

Tom Wyrostek
Warrior football coach

plenty of size this year in the offensive and defensive lines.

For the type of football Wyrostek's Granite City North teams have played under, size is a valuable asset. The Steelers specialized in using the running game and short passes, the type of game where size is needed, and the strategy worked well. Wyrostek probably won't change a thing.

"It's pretty hard to teach an old dog new tricks," Wyrostek said. "We're not going to change that much over here."

In 10 years at North, Wyrostek led his teams to a 52-41-1 record and two IHSA state playoff berths in 1974 and 1981. The biggest challenge is coming now.

The main challenge is teaching approximately half the players a new style of football. The players from North know Wyrostek's style, but the players from South are still learning the system.

"We think we have a lot to do yet. We're still having problems learning my nomenclature and my style," Wyrostek said. "Right now, my concern is getting together a respectable team."

Although long-range goals are the farthest thing from Wyrostek's mind now, the Warriors will have to be extremely respectable to make the IHSA football playoffs this year.

The consolidation of the two Granite City schools meant the Gateway East Conference decreased from five to four schools. The consolidation put the conference below the IHSA's "grandfather clause" limit of five schools that allowed it and the Southwestern Conference to qualify their champions for the playoffs.

That means all four GEC schools, Granite City, Edwardsville, Belleville, Althoff and Cahokia, are independents as far as the IHSA is concerned this season. Independents have to have at least a .800 winning percentage to qualify. With a projected enrollment of 2,900, Granite City would be in Class 6A, the highest enrollment classification.

The GEC will still award a championship this season, but the champion will not advance to the playoffs unless it meets the independents' guidelines.

"We haven't talked to the players about that yet. All we want to do now is try to get together," Wyrostek said.

The Warriors have to get together soon and senior halfbacks John Kindle (5-9, 170), Jim Moad (5-9, 170) and Jon Slecka (5-8, 165) will share the duties in the backfield. Senior Chris Rose and juniors Mark Whitaker and Steve Jacobs could also figure to spend some time in the backfield.

"We don't have any burning speed, but we've got the runners who can get the first downs," Wyrostek said.

At split end, senior Tom Adamitis (5-10, 170), Linhart's main wide receiver with 38 catches last year, and junior Kurt Hyla (6-2, 165) will share some time. At tight end, senior Terry Rujawitz (6-1, 210) and Scott Cant (6-5, 175) will divide the duties.

The offensive line is huge. Tackles Paul Ballev (6-7, 270), Chris Luffman (6-1, 245), center John Wyrostek (6-1, 205) and guards Tim Moran (5-9, 195) and Eric Gunderson (5-10, 210) make the line quite a difficult barrier.

To back up, the Warriors have at tackle Mark McClew (6-2, 215) and Lonnie Kirk (6-2, 200). At center, Richard Mueller (6-1, 192) and Greg Ehlers (5-11, 155) should help out, and at guard, the Warriors have Andy Loftus (5-10, 225), Steve Moore (5-11, 180), Jim Stanley and Dale Schaefer (6-0, 221).

Wyrostek is uncertain about the number of two-way players Granite City will use this year. "It all depends on how much the younger kids want to work. If they work out, we could do have more one-way players than we could have used in the past."

Rujawitz and Moad are also expected to be the top linebackers for the Warriors. Most of the other Warriors have been assigned to other defensive positions.

As far as the kicking situation is concerned, Sean Wyrostek and Scott Cant are the leading candidates. Wyrostek was Daren DeFew's back-up at North last year.

"We're getting close to where we want to be. We just need a little more mental discipline, and some of the players have a lot of hard work to do," Wyrostek said.

The Warriors practiced throughout the entire district teachers' work stoppage. On Aug. 24, the Warriors went from two-a-day practices to only one practice a day to maintain nearly the same practice schedule as the other schools.

Stars

Stars face supreme test as season debuts tonight

The Granite City Center soccer team and Coach Larry Petri will get the supreme test this afternoon as the Stars make their season against Lewis and Clark College of Alton, the runner up in last year's junior college national soccer championships.

Petri will be looking at Thursday's game as a gauge of his team. Underdogs going into the game, Petri feels he can best assess his team's talents against a team of Lewis and Clark's caliber.

"We'd like to get a win against them. I'd be a great way of making our debut, but we can't get down if we lose," Petri said.

The Stars, actually a transfer team from Belleville Area College, are a young team, although more experienced and better than last year.

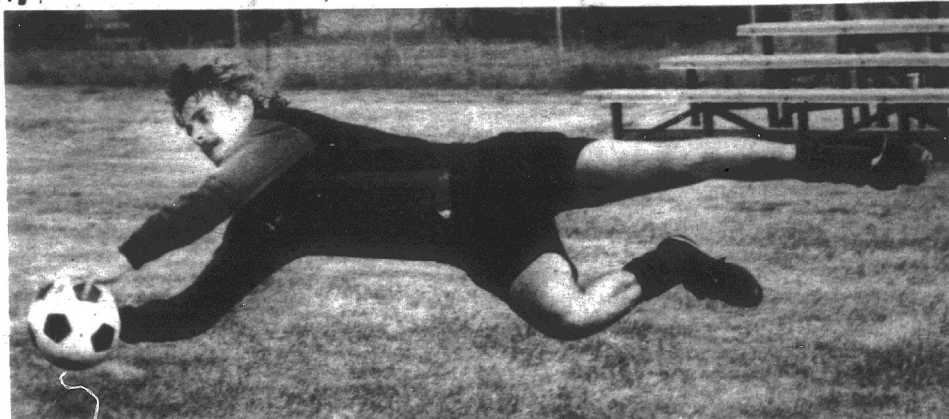

"There are similarities between this team and last year's," Petri began. "But, too, there are differences. We're young this year, but we were younger last year."

With the added experience over last year's squad, Petri is hoping to turn that extra experience into victories.

"Overall, our depth and experience is better than last year. Our key players this year are better than our key players last year," Petri said.

Last year the Stars, formerly the Belleville Area College Dutchmen, suffered through a 6-13 season or managed a .315 winning percentage.

Petri is hoping that the move from

REACHING FOR THE STARS. Joe Lemaster, goalkeeper for the Granite City Stars soccer team leaps for a shot during practice this week, the final week prior before the Stars debut tonight against Lewis and Clark Community College.

Belleville to Granite City, a noted soccer hotbed, will improve the GCC soccer team.

And, if there's any indication from the kind of recruiting year that he's had, this coming season probably will be a better soccer year for the team.

In all, the Stars' roster consists of 21 players. Of those 21 athletes, a third of the athletes are from Granite City.

Among the Stars from Granite City are goalkeeper Joe Lemaster, forwards Phil Popmarkoff, Benny Nolan, Tim Dean, Lance Parker, Rich Sharp and Grant Thornberg and fullback Kelly Mann.

Other Stars by position include at forward Ed Freezmeier, midfielders Jim Doyle, John Reinniger, Russ Self, Don Pokorny, Dan Ritchie and Ralph Furguson.

In the backfield are Rick Moder, Rob Loehr and Rich Hensler. Thus far, Lemaster is the team's only goalkeeper.

In preparation for Thursday's debut, the Stars have played five pre-season games which resulted in one victory, two losses and one tie.

In its latest matchup, the Stars defeated Blackburn College of Carlinville 2-1. Prior to that game, the Stars tied Benedictine 0-0 and McKendree College 2-2.

The Stars' pre-season losses were to McKendree 3-0 and McMurray College 2-0.

Until the Blackburn game, the Stars' opponents outscored them 8-2. That statistic troubled Petri.

"I was a little concerned about our offense going into the (Blackburn) game. Until then we really hadn't been able to put the ball in the net. But, we've made some position changes and I think we'll be more productive now."

As part of those changes, Petri has moved Popmarkoff, Dean and Nolan to the forward positions, making it an all Granite City front line.

The Stars may have proven themselves against Blackburn, but the real test will come this afternoon in Alton.

The Stars scheduled includes 18 games, nine home and nine away. Among the opponents are Florissant Valley, Meramec, Forest Park and Sauk Valley in addition to Lewis and Clark.

The Junior College National Playoffs begin on Nov. 3.

Trojanettes

Trojanette netters seek to break losing streak

Coach Terry Beer of the Madison girls' tennis team has a big job ahead of him. He has to instill a competitive, winning attitude into a team that hasn't won a match in two years.

The Trojans were winless in 10 matches last year. They return four letterwinners from that squad: senior Yalanda Bradley, and juniors Tasha Carter, Darla Taylor and Alicia Roberts.

Beer says he expects Carter and Bradley to fill the top two single's spots. Bradley, who has lettered three consecutive years, is the likely choice to fill the number one berth.

"She's a baseliner, like most of our players," Beer says. "She has nice deep strokes and she anticipates well. But, she needs to work on strategy."

Taylor and Roberts will probably be teamed as the number one double's duo. Both are on the team for just the second year.

The rest of the squad will be filled by first-year players. Beer says Brenda Branch and Lori Prothro are probable candidates for the lower single's spots. Two of the probable candidates for double's spots are Vicki Bridges and Laura Hodges.

The third-year coach was encouraged when 16 girls tried out for his team this year. That was the biggest turnout he's ever had at Madison. The final cut will leave the squad with 11 or 12 players.

Still, Beer refers to the upcoming season as yet another rebuilding year.

Madison
Trojanettes

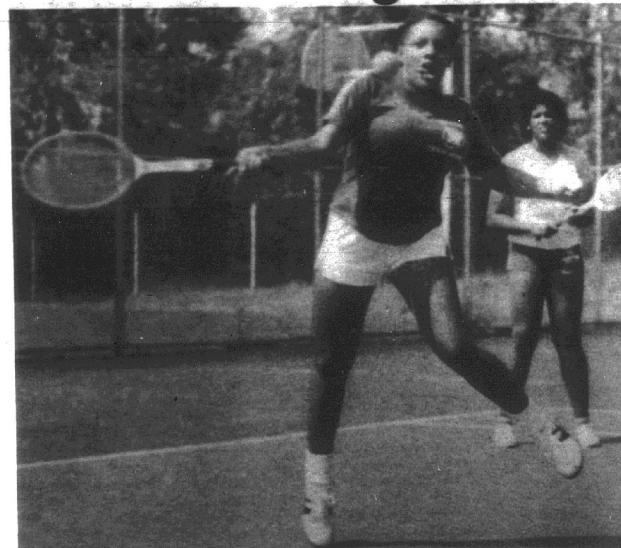

"Our problem is that our girls don't play in the summer," he says. "I'm not in the area then, so I don't hold a camp. We have to pick up in the fall where we left off a year ago."

The Trojans need to get off to a good start, according to Beer. "If we win one match, things will start to happen for us," he says. "Even if we don't win, but play well, maybe our beginners won't get down."

Beer says he thinks his girls are good enough athletes to be winners. "Talent-wise, we should be a .500 team," he says. "Our problem is our mental attitude. You need to believe in yourself to win."

Lack of competitiveness has been a problem for the Trojans in past seasons. "The boys are more aggressive," Beer says. "Every one of them wants to be the number one player. But, the girls are less enthusiastic about being the number one player because they know the competition will be tough. We have to cultivate the competitive spirit."

RETURNING A SHOT. Tasha Carter, returning letterwinner for the Trojanette tennis team returns this shot during a practice session this week. The Trojanettes debut Sept. 21 against Waterloo. The 4 p.m. match is at Madison High.

Trojanettes

For Trojanette spikers, '83 is a rebuilding year

This is to be a learning year for the Madison Trojanettes volleyball team. With only four returning lettermen, Coach Carol Cole isn't getting her team's hopes up.

"We graduated so many girls last year that this is really a rebuilding year."

The Trojanette squad will be bolstered by returning letterwinners ReGina Banks, Stephanie Walker, Carol Zarr and Kathy Zabotka. All seniors, Cole expects the versatile four to lead the Madison spiker squad.

"These girls can do just about anything, setting, hitting or spiking," Cole said assessing the team's strengths.

With seniors Angelette Dandridge, Kim Goes, Robyn Brown, Abigail Heard and juniors Lisa Dohnal, Angie Riley and Chrissy Zimmerman and sophomores Annette Catrons and Kim Webb, Cole also expects a good bench.

"Hopefully, we'll have a balanced attack, we should have good depth."

Enthusiasm has been a weak link for Madison in the past, Cole said. And despite that lack of enthusiasm and minor personality conflicts, it apparently won't be a problem this year.

"In the past some of the girls weren't really interested in volleyball, they were just waiting for basketball season to start, but they seem more interested this year," Cole said of the Trojanettes' enthusiasm.

If the Trojanettes have a weak point in their game it's serving.

"Serving is our only big problem, but we've been working on it a lot," the Madison coach said.

Other than service, Madison doesn't seem to need much work on the basics. Coach Cole is pleased with her teams practices so far.

"We really weren't expecting much, but surprisingly we're looking better than past teams. This team seems a lot more ready to play than last year's."

Madison's first game was Tuesday, as they travelled to East St. Louis.

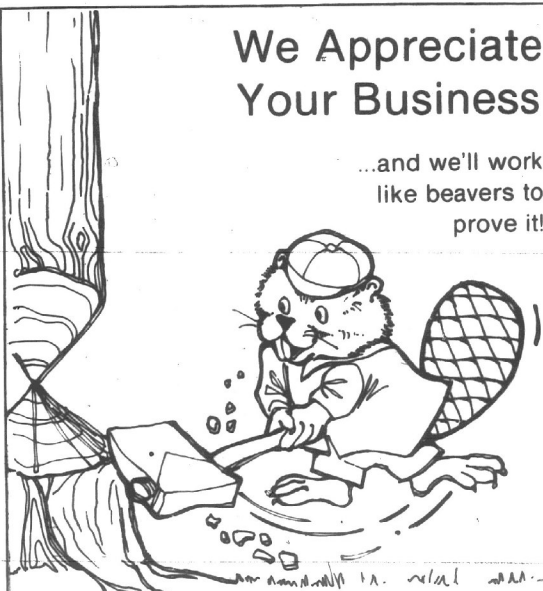

Despite her optimism about the season as a whole, Coach Cole was concerned about the game against Lincoln. "Those girls are so big no one can really compete against them."

And Tuesday, the Trojanettes didn't. They lost to Lincoln.

The Trojanettes make their home debut tonight, against Assumption. Action begins at 6 p.m.

Trojans

New coach, new night for Madison grid team

When the Madison football Trojans take the field in their home opener on Sept. 23, they will probably be facing more than the visiting team from Assumption high school. They will, for the first time in years, be performing in front of a crowd.

In the past several years, Madison football games have been scheduled for Saturday afternoons because of problems with vandalism and student discipline. But this season the Trojans will be hitting the grid iron on Friday nights, hopefully making football once again a social event.

Head Coach Don Smith is in his first year at the helm for the Trojans after working under Al Vonderhaar for the past three years as an assistant. He hopes the change in scheduling will help the Madison squad improve on their 2-16 record over the last two seasons.

"I hope it will draw a big crowd," Smith said. "Playing on Saturday afternoons discourages the kids. They practice hard all week and the people have other things to do on Saturday afternoons."

Playing under the lights is not the only thing different this season from seasons past. This year the Trojans will no longer be in the Quad County Conference. Last season the conference disbanded and reorganized without Madison high school or East St. Louis Assumption.

But the change of team status from conference member to independent has not presented scheduling problems for Coach

"I hope it will draw a big crowd. Playing on Saturday afternoons discourages the kids. They practice hard all week and the people have other things to do on Saturday afternoon."

Don Smith
Trojan football coach

Smith. The only problem that could arise would be if the team has a chance to qualify for post-season play. But Smith will be the first to say he has a formidable task ahead of him improving the 0-8 team he inherited.

Smith says his biggest challenge will not be constructing a single team, but in building a solid program. He wants his players to get involved with off-season training such as weights and not only with working hard in practice. "I'm a big believer in weight training," the muscular former SIUE wrestler said. "We're weak in the upper body but it'll get better after a while."

Due to the reduced hot-weather class schedule in area schools, coach Smith and his assistants, Marcus Spraggins and Mark Gibes, have been forced to work their team about two-and-a-half hours in the heat of the day. Smith says that may be one reason for the low turnout of kids for the team this year.

Another problem Smith has faced is one of team attitude, particularly among the experienced players on the team. "Because of discipline reasons, we had to get rid of a lot of seniors," Smith said. But he notes the Trojans will be depending heavily on those seniors that are sticking it out.

Madison will be looking to senior quarterback Victor Valentine for leadership on offense, and has brought freshman Vincent "Tip" Harris up to the varsity for possible action. Carrying the ball for the Trojans will be seniors Shawn Brown and Kelly Scrum. Last year Scrum received first team All-Conference honors as a junior.

Smith said he plans to work from the 'I' formation a lot a lot this year as well as the wishbone. With some blocking he hopes to get to the outside where the team can utilize their speed.

The holes will be opened for the Trojan backs by a young line led by Jeff Briddick, who started for the varsity last season as a sophomore. Smith is also expecting a good showing from 190-pound sophomore Darrel McCormick.

Because of the limited number of players on the roster, several players will be pulling double duty on offense and defense. Smith is looking to Shawn Brown not only to gain yardage on offense but also to lead the defense at defensive cornerback. Last season as a junior Brown was named to the All-Conference second team.

The season opens Saturday evening when the Trojans travel to West Frankfort for a 7:30 kickoff. The season also features away contests against Breese Central and Duplo and will challenge both Waterloo and Red Bud at home next month.

The Trojans open their home season with Assumption Saturday, Sept. 23, at 7:30 at the Madison high school football field.

IN ACTION. Madison's Vincent Harris works on a handoff during a practice drill earlier this week in the Trojan football camp. The Trojans debut in '83 this Saturday in West Frankfort.

Trojans

Madison kickers hope to be conference sleeper

This year, the Madison High School Trojans will continue to build their soccer program under the helm of seven-year mentor Gene Briggs. But in order for this year's edition to come out a winner, Briggs says a lot of work remains to be done.

"Our defense is fair," Briggs said last week after an intersquad scrimmage, "but the offense is not producing." In the 35 minutes of play, no goals were scored.

The problem, Briggs says, is going in for the kill. "We're hustling to get the ball to where it should be," he added, "but we're not finishing it. We need to work on our finishing skills."

Briggs, along with assistant Mike Garland, feels that in order for the school to produce a soccer team that will be capable of winning, the kids need to play more soccer on their own. Briggs also cites the lack of youth soccer programs in the area as another reason for the kids' lack of interest.

"We've got runners from track fast as the wind," Briggs said. "They are probably as fast as anyone in the state. But taking the speed and combining it with soccer skills is the problem."

"The two hours out here isn't enough," Briggs continued. "We have them for only 40 weeks in four years. Our incoming seniors only have 30 weeks experience."

Adding to the problem of inexperience for the Trojans is the fact that only four seniors are on the squad this year. The team lost several last season to graduation. Briggs says the team consists of a lot of sophomores.

Madison

This year Briggs expects the bulk of their scoring to come from one of those seniors, Michael Young, and says Young is being forced to play out of position. "He really isn't a forward," Briggs said, "but he can score from there. He should be a fullback. Skillwise and physically he is our best player." Last season Briggs said Young made All-Conference virtually by himself.

So this year Briggs and Garland appear to be hard-pressed to improve on last season's 7-12 record. But should their offense come around and the defense use effectively their speed, Madison could be a sleeper in the Mid-South Conference.

The Trojans play ten conference and six non-conference games. Monday afternoon Madison faces Waterloo at home beginning at 4 p.m.

Warriors

Warriors may be Southwestern Illinois' best

With the consistently competitive cross country teams at Granite City North and Granite City South throughout the years, it's only natural to expect the combined Granite City High School to have a strong foundation to work on this year.

Indeed, that is the case. Because of strong runners returning from both schools, Granite City is likely to have one of the stronger cross country teams in Southern Illinois in both the boys and the girls levels.

Pete Robinson, the coach of the cross country Warriors, believes both squads could qualify for the state meet this season if everything goes well.

"We're going to be one of the tougher teams in this part of the state," Robinson said. "I don't know how we compare with the central Illinois teams, but we'll learn a lot before the end of the season. We're looking forward to a good season.

"Our attitude has been very good. I'm optimistic about the season," he said.

The main reason confidence abounds in the Warrior camp is because of the experience returning for both the girls and boys.

As a freshman, Lora Wiser finished 46th in the state cross country meet last year, and she returns to lead a strong line-up at the girls' level.

"She's going to be one of the best runners again," Robinson said.

Although Mary Bisch and Mary Romine are gone from last year's South squad, senior Connie Williamson and juniors Michelle Shoemaker and Angie Grabowski are back for another year.

Freshmen Kim Ames and Sheila Noel could figure into the Warriors' plans this year. Julie Hoffman is also hoping to break into the top seven.

"We're going to be one of the tougher teams in this part of the state. I don't know how we compare with the central Illinois teams, but we'll learn a lot before the end of the season. We're looking forward to a good season."

Pete Robinson
Warrior cross-country coach

"We've got seven pretty good girls this year," Robinson said. "We could put a hurt on some of the teams this year. We could be hurting though if one of those girls get injured.

"Wiser's going to be right up there, and the other girls are going to be pretty close near the top. I think we're going to make a lot of progress this year," Robinson said.

While the girls appear to be strong, the boys could be even better. Robinson is expecting a lot of competition for the top seven.

The only spot that appears to be the most secure is the top runner. Jim Robertson was the top runner for North last season and will continue as the top runner for the new high school.

1983 WARRIOR CROSS COUNTRY. Members of this year's Granite City High School cross country team are, beginning with the first row, Jeff Hoese, Mike Charbonnier, Laney Castillo, Sheila Noel, Kim Ames, Mary Smith, Mark Woodson, Derrick Worlen, Derrick Drunstra, Ron Law, Steve Shaw and Jim Robertson. In the second row are Todd Scrum, Dawn Young, Gary Crone, Todd Isom, Jeff Fedora, Charlie Porter, Michelle Williamson, Dave DeGonia, Bob Strohmer and Kirk Patton. In the third row are Mike Flemming, David Birkhead, Tashia Szymcek, Angie Grabowski, Julie Hoffman, Michelle Shoemaker, Lora Wiser, Kelly Evans, Pam Gowdy, Faye Patton and Dave Woodson. In the fourth row are Keith Bono, Paul Muskill, Bob Shaw, Doug Limbaugh, Connie Williamson, Darren Bernaix, Mark Yehling, Jeff Young and Craig Bohlman.

"He was one of the best in the area last year, and he's giving indication he's going to get a lot better this year," Robinson said.

Senior Jeff Hoese, who was a running back for South's football team last year, and sophomore Todd Isom are two runners who surprised Robinson.

RUNNING WORKOUT. Michelle Shoemaker, Angie Grabowski, Sheila Noel, Kim Ames and Lora Wiser work out during a recent cross country practice at Granite City High School. The five should be the nucleus of this year's girls cross country team.

"Those two boys have really improved. They show a lot of promise, and they could do a lot for us," Robinson said.

Darren Bernaix, Ken Kalka and Keith Bono, who ran at North last season, are likely to be important parts of the team.

Gary Crone, Derrick Drunstra, Steve Houston and David Birkhead could also compete for one of the top seven spots.

Robinson sees East St. Louis (Sr.), Belleville West and O'Fallon to be among the top teams in the area this year.

Granite City will host the first big meet of the year, the Granite City Invitational, this Saturday at 10 a.m. on the Granite City High School campus.

Warriors

Warriors hope to tee off excellent fall season

Russ Chappell, coach of the Granite City High School golf team, predicts 1983 will be a fun year for the golfers.

Chappell has every reason to make such a prediction. With a total of eight returning lettermen from Granite City North and Granite City South, this year's team could be one of the best golf teams to be produced in Granite City in some time.

"We've had quite a few good golfers here, but this has to be the best team of talented golfers in Granite City history," Chappell said. "We have six or seven kids who can break 80 (on 18 holes), and that's good for high school kids. That the most that I can remember."

Because of the experienced talent Granite City has this year, Chappell expects the team to be competitive with both Belleville East and West, Edwardsville and O'Fallon.

"I think we can qualify this team for state this year," Chappell said. "It's going to be a fun year, and we have a great bunch of talent."

Seniors Jeff Pare, Randy Thurman, Steve Crow and Kevin Schatz, juniors John Tackett and Chris Cordin and sophomore Mike Sturman are the returning lettermen this year for Granite City.

Senior Eric Goff, who played soccer at North last year, sophomores Danny Graff and Steve Schatz and freshman Billy Gaumer round out the top 12 for Granite City. Sophomore Alan Girard and freshmen Eldon Depew and Lee Schreiber could also figure in the Warriors' golf successes.

"The thing that is so good about this year is that the competition is so keen, and that's something I rarely had," Chappell said. "It makes for a wholesome, healthy attitude about golf. The kids who played a lot during the summer have become very good."

On top of the experience the Warriors

"We've had quite a few good golfers here, but his has to be the best team of talent golfers in Granite City history. We have six or seven kids who can break 80, and that's good for high school kids. That's the most I can remember."

have, Chappell believes they know the mechanics of the game well. He said the golfers are able to hit the ball for good length and have a good touch around the greens.

"Mr. (Boone) Chaney would have had a good team at South this year with the golfers he had, but when you throw a few players from the other school, you have a strong team," Chappell, who was the coach at North, said.

"We're blessed with a lot of fine players, and I'm looking forward to a good season. We're looking forward to a good golf tradition," Chappell said.

The golfers opened their season Tuesday against Highland. The Warriors' next match is Thursday as they entertain Wood River and Roxana at 4 p.m. at the Arlington Golf Course east of Granite City.

GOLF INSTRUCTION. Russ Chappell, Granite City High School's golf coach, gives some of his freshmen golfers some instructions in the finer points of golf. Chappell expects Granite City to have a strong team this year.

Warrior spikers are 'sitting pretty' in '83

Wilma Schulze, Granite City High School volleyball coach, is "sitting pretty" this fall as the Warrior spikers begin their fall campaign.

Schulze's reason for optimism is five returning letterman as well as several players with varsity experience. Returning as setters will be Michelle Morgan and Ann Puhse. Vicki Smith and Lisa Lilley will be the outside hitters, with Debbie Brandt and Tammy Jones as middle hitters. Michelle Sikora and Kim Mushill will fill out the varsity squad.

Enthusiasm should be another asset to the Warrior team. Several girls attended volleyball camps during the summer and came out this season ready to work hard.

"So far it has been a great coaching experience working with so many talented girls who are also enthusiastic," Schulze stated.

Schulze feels her team's main weakness this year will be the use of the multiple offense at the beginning of the season. The Warriors will be playing a six-two offense this year. This offense allows the setters to also be hitters. Schulze feels the lack of height of the setters may cause some minor problems.

Another problem Schulze feels may hamper the team is the lack of games due to the delay in the starting of school.

"Practicing, without actual games, does not allow students to realize the importance of things stressed in practice," Schulze stated.

It looks as if the Warriors will also have a good team for several years to come with the junior varsity team consisting of eight sophomores and one freshman. Schulze feels that some of these girls may also be seeing varsity action before the season is over.

The junior varsity players are Betsy Barrington, Sherry Dawson, Robin Keel, Sandy Sanborn, Bridget Watson, Beth Werths, Kari Winters, Lisa Wiser, and Sandy Sternberg. There are also twenty-eight freshmen out for the team.

GCHS SPIKER. Debbie Brandt, a junior spiker, for the Warrior volleyball team hits a winner against Triad Tuesday evening in Memorial Gymnasium. The Warriors went on to win the contest, their first of the season.

Besides the price you'd normally expect to pay at other stores, there's just one other thing missing from these classic Levi's® button fly jeans — the shrinkage. These jeans are pre-washed and pre-shrunk to take the guesswork out of buying Levi's® button fly jeans. The pair that fits just right when you try them will still fit, after you wash them. The styling is Levi's® original but they're softer and more comfortable the first time you wear them. Levi's® 501® pre-washed button fly jeans. The shrinkage is gone but the quality is still there.
